JAP PLANES BLAST AIRFIELD IN CRUCIAL SOLOMONS BATTLE

Guadalcanal Forces Get Aid From Army; 7 Enemy Ships Hit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Japanese bombers have struck anew at the Guadalcanal airfield held by American forces in the Solomon Islands, the Navy announced tonight, as a great struggle for domination of much of the southwest Pacific ocean raged on.

The latest air attack was disclosed in a communique which added but a few sparse details to what had already been told of the crucial aero-amphibious conflict in a communique earlier in the day.

It was stated that enemy naval forces were still operating, at last reports, in the vicinity of Savo Island, which guards the approaches to the Japanese-held northern section of Guadalcanal, and there was no mention of any action involving either American air or surface forces.

Jap Armada.
The Japanese armada had been disclosed earlier to include battleships. This was the first time the enemy has risked his capital vessels in the vicinity of Guadalcanal and the fact emphasized his grim determination to regain control of the island and smash the American offensive in the southwest Pacific at virtually any cost.

While the outcome of the struggle still hung in the balance, the Navy added these details of information in tonight's communique: Twenty-seven enemy bombers blasted the Guadalcanal airfield shortly after noon on October 15, Guadalcanal time. Results of this raid were not announced.

On the night of October 14-15, American positions on Espiritu Santo Island, site of an air base, in the New Hebrides, were shelled by an enemy ship believed to be a submarine. Espiritu Santo is 450 miles southeast of Guadalcanal, and the action had the appearance of a diversionary move by the Japanese.

3 Transports.
Three enemy transports, which the Navy previously had reported bombed by U. S. planes on the morning of October 15, have now been observed beached and burning. Meanwhile, the enemy surface forces, including two transports, were "still in the vicinity of Savo Island."

Those were the facts added by tonight's communique, which said in addition only that "no report pertaining to the land fighting in Guadalcanal has been received."

The earlier communique, however, had said that American Army troops now were fighting shoulder to shoulder with the Marines, which originally invaded the island and captured its airfield from the Japanese last August.

These land forces have met the enemy's reinforced jungle legions in rough country west of the airport and it appeared that the main land fight was developing there. The main Japanese objective is the airfield which, with its supporting defenses, is the spear-

Nazis Race Cold In Bitter Fight For Stalingrad

MOSCOW, Friday, Oct. 16.—(AP) The Germans, in a new offensive spurt, hurled two infantry divisions supported by 100 tanks and huge air formations against northwestern Stalingrad yesterday, and "succeeded in slightly pressing back our troops," the Russians announced early today on the 53d day of siege.

This German gain, made in a race with approaching winter, cost the enemy 1,500 dead and about 45 of their tanks, the midnight communique said.

South of the besieged Volga river city the Russians said another 300 Germans were slain, and five guns and six blockhouses and two munition dumps were destroyed by one Red Army unit. The Nazi blockhouse garrisons either were killed or captured, the communique added.

Above the city where the Red Army has driven wedges into the Nazi flank extending from the Don river to Stalingrad, the communique reported only indecisive fighting of local importance. The Russians there were still attacking, however, and using their artillery to disperse German concentrations. One Nazi infantry company was said to have been wiped out and three enemy planes downed.

In the mid-Caucasian area of Moxdok the Soviet bulletin said the Red army fought off three successive Nazi attacks, burning or disabling 19 German tanks and killing approximately two companies of enemy infantry.

The Russians in this area also were reported to have broken into a series of Nazi trenches where several scores of Germans were killed.

"Our troops," the communique said, "fought for the annihilation of enemy groups of tanks and infantry which had driven a wedge into our defenses." This wedge apparently was the same one reported in yesterday's communique. Fighting also flared on the Bryansk front, about 210 miles southwest of Moscow. Two German attacks were reported to have been repulsed, and 300 Germans killed.

THEIR HERO!—Five-month-old Ann McEwen and her pretty mama look their pride in Richard C. McEwen, aviation radioman first class, U. S. Navy, who has been honored by the Navy Department with a Distinguished Flying Cross for "heroism and extraordinary achievement" as a flying machinegunner in the Battle of Midway. The 21-year-old hero, whose daughter was born while he was fighting in the Pacific, is confined to his Athens, Ga., home by an attack of appendicitis. His appendix permitting, the medal will be presented to him at Navy Day ceremonies in Athens October 27 by Captain C. E. Smith, commanding officer of the pre-flight school, where McEwen is studying to earn his wings as a naval aviator.

94 Axis Planes Lost in 5-Day Raid on Malta

CAIRO, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Axis air losses over Malta increased to 94 since Sunday with the destruction of 13 more enemy craft over the rocky island fortress today as the Germans and Italians strove mightily to reinforce and supply their stalled desert army.

Malta has undergone more than 3,000 air raids since Italy entered the war, and has accounted for more than 1,000 planes.

The intensified air siege was in its fifth day after the British had shot down 23 Axis planes during four enemy swoops on Malta Wednesday, losing only five Spitfires, from which three pilots were saved.

Heavy United States bombers in daylight Wednesday again attacked Tobruk—chief Axis supply base and destination of Axis convoys. A large merchant ship was hit directly by two bombs and a lighter was destroyed.

RAF medium bombers also attacked Salum, near the Egyptian frontier, starting fires, attacked transport vehicles in the desert at Sidi Haneish and machinegunned objectives in the Daba area.

German reports that Marshal Rommel had returned to the front lines in Egypt in the Alamein sector, 80 miles west of Alexandria, were seen as connected with the intensification of Axis efforts to build up his striking force.

The battlefield remained quiet while the quartermasters of both sides feverishly built their armies for what is expected to be the most withering campaign of the desert.

In addition to the 23 planes destroyed over Malta yesterday, the British said 36 others were damaged and 10 of the crippled had little chance of reaching base.

SCRAP HITLER, TOO!—Of course, the victim pictured here is only a dummy, but it shows the feeling of those who are getting in the scrap drive. This effigy of Adolf Hitler hanging from a lamp post must have been an inspiration for the Yorkville section of Manhattan, because look at the pile of scrap the people collected.

All Atlanta Firms Urged To Turn In, Report Scrap

More than 800,000 pounds of scrap have been collected from 45 of the thousands of manufacturers, business and commercial houses in the newspapers' scrap drive, Robert Strickland, chairman of the industrial division, reported yesterday, adding that the tonnage is "just a drop in the bucket."

State Declares Quarantine on Venereal Cases

A state-wide quarantine of all persons with venereal disease was declared yesterday by the Georgia Board of Health in an order establishing stringent regulations for control of the diseases and providing compulsory detention centers.

Aimed primarily at prostitutes who have flocked to the vicinity of Army camps, the order was adopted in response to requests of Army and federal public health officials for measures to "protect soldiers from venereal disease, State Health Director T. F. Abercrombie asserted.

"Public Health Menace."
No specific measures were recommended by the federal officials. Dr. Abercrombie said, adding that so far as he knew no other state had declared a state-wide quarantine for this purpose.

Georgia, said the board, now has an epidemic of venereal diseases of such proportions that it is a menace to public health and "a threat and deterrent to an all-out war effort."

The quarantine was made applicable to "all persons who have been directly exposed" to venereal disease as well as to those actually infected. Violation of any of the rules is declared a misdemeanor.

In substance, the order requires the isolation, detention and treatment at public expense of persons suffering with venereal disease unless they receive treatment privately.

Isolation Posts.
Any officer or employee of any duly established health board in the state is empowered to detain any person infected with a contagious venereal disease who is not providing medical care for himself or who does not have the means to provide it.

No isolation posts, or quarantine stations, have been established yet, but Dr. Abercrombie said one or more would be as quickly as possible in co-operation with authorities of the counties where they are located.

These will be financed largely by the federal government, which

"MAN MOUNTAIN" DINES!—Notice that wink "Man Mountain" Dean, veteran of thousands of wrestling matches, flashed yesterday as he sat down to a man-size bit of lunch at his home in Norcross. Serving the coffee is his wife. The "Man Mountain" is released from Army duty for the present because he can't stand the physical gaff.

Army Needs Youths, 'Man Mountain' Says

If anyone disputes the argument that the 18 and 19-year-old lads are the backbone of a worth-while army, let him talk awhile with 51-year-old "Man Mountain" Dean, who is home from the wars, discharged as a physically unfit.

The Dean home is out on the Buford highway, on the left-hand side of the road, just after the car enters Norcross.

"A man that's past 40 years old ain't worth—" a certain derisive monosyllable that seems to be the keystone of the "Man Mountain's" vocabulary.

18-19 Group Needed.

No one would have dared class "Man Mountain" as physically unfit before last spring. It took the whole Army to do it during the summer and today "Man Mountain" is resting with Mrs. Dean at the old homestead—partially convinced that the Army is right.

"They need those 18 and 19-year-old boys," says the man who fought in the last World War and did his darnedest to fight in this one.

"The young guys respond! The old guys are too dead set in their ways. They don't respond. I'm not proud of the fact that I got kicked out of the Army. And I'm not knocking the old men as a whole. I'm talking about them as individuals. The Army is too busy to be trying to separate the sheep from the goats. All the young

Hit Them First, Men of 18-19

We've got to hit them first—hit them hard—keep on hitting them until we've won! That's Uncle Sam's recipe for victory in this war and in today's Constitution he addresses an urgent call to men of 18 and 19 years to "get into the fight for freedom."

New Safeguard For Husbands Added to Bill Valdosta Parent Buys 5 Stars To Honor Sons

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The House Military Committee unanimously approved a bill making 18 and 19-year-olds subject to the draft today, after adding new safeguards intended generally to prevent the induction of married men while single men are available for Army service.

The Senate Military Committee planned meanwhile to report a similar measure tomorrow. Overnight it asked the War Department for confidential information on how it intends to use an Army of 5,500,000 men. That figure has been made the goal for 1943.

At the same time, house leaders scheduled the measure for consideration and passage, after two hours of debate, on Saturday. Opposition was at a minimum, and they were confident their plans would be carried out.

Wadsworth Bill.
The house committee acted after less than two days of hearings and less than an hour devoted to discussing the measure in executive session. It voted to report a bill introduced by Representative Wadsworth, Republican, New York, the author of the original prewar selective service act.

In addition to reducing the draft age from 20 to 18, the measure endeavored to settle a controversy over the interrupted educations of the youths to be called. The bill provides that a high school or college student called for induction shall be deferred until the end of the present academic year. After July 1, 1943, no educational deferments are to be granted.

Additional security for married men was provided by Representative Kilday, Democrat, Texas. As things now stand, each draft board receives its monthly quota. This must be filled, regardless. If there is an insufficient number of unmarried eligibles to make up the quota, the practice has been to fill it out with married men.

Under Kilday's amendment, the quotas would be made state-wide, instead of applicable to one town.

OPA To Speed Up Rationing of Still More Commodities

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—More commodities will be rationed almost as quickly as local ration boards can take on the work, Office of Price Administration officials disclosed tonight in revealing a blueprint for vast expansion of the agency headed by Leon Henderson.

OPA officials, who would not be quoted by name, said the expansion plans would be unfolded to OPA field officers at conferences in Washington tomorrow and Saturday.

Because of the need to be close to every rationed citizen and every price-controlled storekeeper, OPA's program calls for establishment of district offices in every city of 100,000 population, of which there are 90. In addition, officials hope to place district offices, with decision-making powers, in all communities of 75,000 or more, which would add about 25.

Added burdens thrown upon OPA by the recent anti-inflation act and President Roosevelt's directive to Henderson have greatly enlarged the need for bringing OPA officials closer to the consumer and to the 2,000,000 business establishments under price control, the officials said.

Eight rationing programs already are in effect—sugar, gasoline, fuel oil, typewriters, automobiles, tires, bicycles and rubber work shoes—but worsening scarcities will make it necessary to add additional ration programs almost as rapidly as local boards can absorb them, the officials stated.

New rent offices also will have to be opened, in line with the presidential directive calling for designation of the entire country as a defense rental area. The official sources declared that all problems arising under price and rent ceilings and ration programs could not possibly be settled in Washington, particularly in view of the fact that speedy decisions are imperative.

As presently outlined, each district office would have at least one specialist on the price orders affecting the particular industries in its own community; specialists on the major rationing programs operating in the community; retail specialists, and attorneys competent to handle questions of interpretation and compliance.

The regional offices would be expected to handle problems arising in the wholesale trade. Manufacturing problems would be handled at Washington, while retail problems in most cases would be the concern of state and district offices.

Aviatrice Laura Ingalls, Nazi Agent, Denied Plea

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP) Laura Ingalls, aviatrice convicted as an unregistered German agent, has been denied a parole from her sentence of from eight months to two years.

The eight months will be up Monday, but Frank R. Jelleff, chairman of the District of Columbia parole board, said that the "nature of Miss Ingalls' crime" and the fact that she had made a "poor adjustment" in prison made it inadvisable to act now on her application for parole, which was presented yesterday.

Because of the war, Jelleff said, the board must act with caution on parole cases.

Aerial Trend In Our Favor --Rickenbacker

Ace Reports to Stimson After Official Trip to England.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Captain E. V. "Eddie" Rickenbacker brought back today from an official survey trip to England the conclusion that a second land front in Europe must await decisive success for the British-American air offensive.

Already aerial superiority is "definitely on the Allies' side" and "the trend is entirely in our favor," the first World War air ace reported to Secretary Stimson.

The war secretary added weight to the opinion by making public excerpts from Rickenbacker's report of a survey of American Army airmen under actual combat conditions and in comparison with British and Nazi fliers and planes.

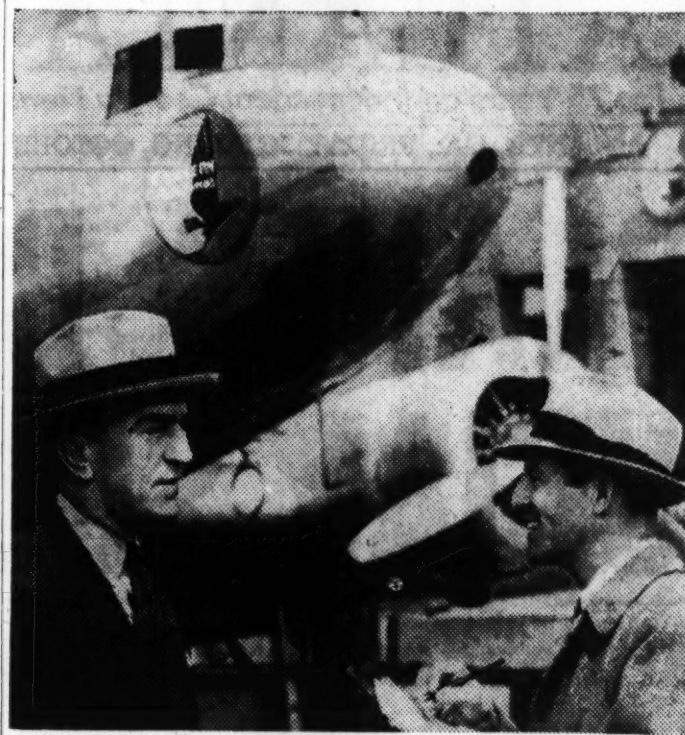

Our Standpoint. In general, Rickenbacker said that "the picture, from our standpoint, is as bright as the grim portrait of war can be," although he warned against complacency. American planes and tactics have proven sound and have won the approval of the British.

"We must keep our aircraft plants going at full capacity and send a steady stream of bombers, fighters, air crews and ground crews, and all that goes with it, flowing to England, so that in time there will be a constant cloud of Allied combat craft over the skies of Germany," Rickenbacker advised.

The total German air force, he said, "does not exceed 4,700 operational combat planes" of every type, a very small percentage of these being bombers.

Nazi Air Power. "It would be a mistake, however, to draw the conclusion that German air power is on the decrease," he continued.

"While we may hope that British and American bombers have crippled German aircraft production and maintenance in Germany and France, the case may be that the Germans are working feverishly on new design planes to offset the aerial superiority which, at the present writing, is definitely on the Allies' side.

"We are bound to suffer losses, maybe even great losses, before the conquest of Germany is completed. There is no question that we will win this war. The only question is how soon. That question can only be answered by figures of production because the first line of offense is the production line."

Downed 21 Planes In World War I.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Captain E. V. Rickenbacker, who became famous as an automobile racer and World War pilot and then successfully entered the business world to become president of Eastern Air Lines, is a soft-spoken, kindly man but is regarded as an outstanding expert on aviation.

His renown as a racer was established before the first World War and he went to France as chauffeur for General John J. Pershing, but after a year transferred to aviation.

In six months, after he had made his first solo flight with only 12 instruction sessions, Rickenbacker put himself in first rating in the army service list of 66 American aces, being credited with downing 21 planes and four balloons.

In one encounter he downed his foe by colliding with him in mid-air.

After the war he came home to fly his war plane around the country, then began manufacturing automobiles bearing his name. The venture failed. He headed the company owning the Indianapolis Speedway for a number of years, and was a vice president of the Cadillac Motor Company before becoming general manager of Eastern Air Lines in 1934.

In recent years Rickenbacker has not done much piloting of planes, but has flown thousands of miles as a passenger, and a few months ago was seriously injured in a plane crash near Atlanta. When he recovered he volunteered his services to the government.

House Group Votes To Lower Draft Age or one section of a city. Thus a draft board may not order the induction of a married man, if elsewhere in the state there are eligible single men. Similarly, it may not send a married man with children into the service, while elsewhere in the state there are eligible childless married men.

In this connection, Major General Lewis B. Hershey, the chief of the Selective Service since the course of the hearings, said that with the passage of the pending bill the induction of married men with children was not contemplated before 1944. But, he asserted, "As time goes on, there's going to be a lack of uniformity on dependency, because you'll have to depend more and more on what a man's doing."

His assertion emphasized a general expectation that work necessary to the war effort will become increasingly important as the deciding factor in whether or not a man shall be inducted.

Patterson Amendment. The house committee adopted two additional amendments:

The first, suggested by Robert P. Patterson, the undersecretary of war, modified a provision of present law saying that if a person under 21 enlists in the Army without consent of his parents he must be released if the parents so request. The committee changed the age limit in this provision to 18.

The second, by Representative Durham, Democrat, North Carolina, specified that no prospective inductee should be rejected because of his conviction for an offense not a felony at common law. It was explained that convictions under the old prohibition amendment had caused a number of such rejections, and that Durham's amendment would give such men no further immunity from Army service.

In voting to report the Wadsworth bill, the committee turned down a measure by its chairman, Representative May, Democrat, Kentucky. The May bill was similar in most respects but forbade the Army to send any man into combat duty who had had less than a year's training. The War Department had opposed such a provision.

Magnitude of Army. Senator Downey, Democrat, California, member of the senate committee, raised the question of what the Army proposed to do with 7,500,000 men. He referred to a statement made in a letter to the committee by Norman Thomas, the Socialist leader, opposing drafting the 18 and 19-year-olds "until broad lines of strategy have been laid down, settled and the question of where this group will best fit into a manpower plan answered."

Downey said Thomas presented a question that was in the minds of many people and added: "I can not understand the magnitude of the Army's figures." Hershey told the house military committee that the bill to lower the draft ages would make available 1,500,000 youths—the best of our manpower."

Educational Problem. The senate military committee was busy with a similar measure. Today it considered the educational problems involved in drafting young men, and heard Brigadier General M. G. White of the general staff testify the Army was developing plans for sending its brightest soldiers to college for technical training.

The general made this statement after the committee had received a plea from Mayor La Guardia, of New York city, that continued training be provided for medical, chemical and engineering students. He proposed a plan similar to student Army training corps of the First World War, with the men continuing their college education as soldiers.

General White's plan was to grant no educational deferments. But men with special aptitudes would be permitted by the Army to attend existing colleges as part of a definite program. The scheme involved a constant "screening," he said, so that "if a man fall down in his studies, out he would go."

Japs Using Battleships

head of the first American offensive in the Pacific.

A midday Navy communique, which gave the most complete account yet of the action, described the enemy's forces and told of new blows dealt Japanese in preliminary phases of the fighting. It listed seven Japanese ships, including a battleship, as having been damaged in the last four days, and reported destruction of 23 enemy planes, with 10 more either destroyed or damaged.

On the other hand, the enemy was reported to have been successful in bombing the vital American airfield and the previously announced bombardment of the field and its defenses by Japanese surface ships last Tuesday night. The Japanese also were reported to have lost two United States fighter planes as well as announced.

U. S. Planes in Action. But there were no indications of how the aero-amphibious battle was going, or whether either side had gained any advantage which would give it an edge on victory.

The pattern of the initial Japanese assault became clear from the communique's account of the actions leading up to the furious engagement. The Japs' purpose throughout was to knock out the airfield to deprive the American defenders of their aerial support.

In this they apparently were not successful, since the planes were in action after the enemy attacks. The first of the Japanese attacks came on the night of October 13-14, when the surface ships, including battleships, cruisers and destroyers, bombarded the field. They followed this up the next afternoon with two bomber attacks. The first group of bombers met no resistance from American fighters. The second attack was resisted, and the Japs lost 13 planes.

The next night the Japanese brought up transports with escort forces of battleships, cruisers and destroyers and Thursday morning, Guadalcanal time (Wednesday afternoon, Washington time) they landed heavy reinforcements for their troops.

These troops have been slowly building up their strength and supplies almost from the very first day the Americans invaded the island and drove the Japanese into the mountainous jungle country northwest of the airfield. The communique's account of the preliminary stages of the Solomon fighting went back to October 12, when Army Flying Fortresses bombed the airfield and shore establishments at Buna, about 375 nautical miles northwest of Guadalcanal. Ten bombers and fighters were caught on the ground there and either wrecked or damaged.

Army bombers also hit the Japanese base at Buna, on the southeast coast of Guadalcanal. That day, shot down six enemy fighters and damaged two cargo ships, setting fire to one of them. Meanwhile, Navy and Ma-

U-Boats Sink 2 More Allied Ships; 13 Dead

One Vessel Is Destroyed 180 Miles Upstream in St. Lawrence.

By The Associated Press.

The destruction of two more United Nations ships—an unidentified 4,000-ton merchant vessel and a medium-sized United States merchant ship—with the loss of 13 crewmen, brought to 493 yesterday the Associated Press count of announced Allied losses in the western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor.

The Navy said in Washington that only one man was lost in the sinking of the American craft in August. Fifty-three survivors, who have been landed at a United States east coast port, were picked up the day after the sinking by another American vessel, and taken to an Allied port for transfer to the United States.

Twelve men were lost in the torpedoing of the westbound merchantman which was sunk last Thursday night off Melis Beach, Quebec, on the south shore of the St. Lawrence river, farther upstream than any previous submarine attack. The ship, which was in a small convoy group, was struck just after midnight. Eighteen survivors were picked up by another American vessel, and taken to an eastern Canadian port.

"I'm sure one of the Canadian escorts got the U-boat," and other crewmen expressed agreement. But there was no official confirmation. The information, whose name cannot be used, said that a new South American campaign for full hemisphere unity might be the outstanding result of the present outbreak of the present outbreak of the outbreak.

Crewmen of the sunken United States boat told of a dawn torpedo attack which sent their ship to the bottom. As the men hove to some distance from their vessel, a submarine surfaced and a German officer asked whether anybody remained on board.

"Upon receiving a negative reply," the Navy announcement said, the German officer ordered his gun crew to shell the ship. "At point blank range, 17 shells were fired into the vessel and she burst into flames and quickly sank."

BIDDERS OVERLOOK RUM.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Good imported rum went begging at less than $1 a gallon at a custom auction here, and veteran customs officials rubbed their eyes. The crowd of war-minded citizens was too busy bidding for coffee at rocketing figures to spare time for spirits.

The 15 bombers were shot down and four fighters destroyed while only one United States fighter was lost.

Jap Losses Heavy. At dawn the next day, a Japanese force unloading reinforcements was attacked by what the communique described as "an aircraft striking group." One transport was hit and two others were left burning. It was at that time, too, that the Japanese battleship was damaged and one enemy fighter was shot down.

After reporting that the enemy transport force was supported by destroyers, cruisers and the battleship, the communique noted that "other enemy forces, including heavy units, have been sighted in the vicinity of Guadalcanal."

There was no mention of aircraft carriers specifically, but it was considered almost certain that if the Japanese were willing to risk such units as battleships in the close fighting in the archipelago, they would also take a chance with carriers.

The results of the four-day actions left the Japanese with these ships damaged: One battleship, one destroyer, three transports and two cargo vessels. Planes definitely reported destroyed to total 23.

$1,530,000,000 Income Is Seen For This Year's Cotton Crop

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The Agriculture Department said today that this year's cotton crop, if sold at September farm prices for lint and seed, would return to growers $1,530,000,000, the highest income since 1925 and 38 per cent more than the 1941 crop.

On the other hand, the crop would bring $1,432,000,000, the department said, if sold at last season's average farm prices for lint and seed. An income of that size would be the largest since 1928.

The September farm price of lint—18.59 cents a pound—was the highest for any September since 1927. The price of seed was $45.33 per ton which, except for September and October, 1941, was the highest since December, 1928.

In a report analyzing future cotton prospects, the department said domestic consumption during the current season was expected to reach a level of 11,600,000 bales compared with 11,200,000 in the season which closed July 31. It said that further increases in consumption would be quite limited because of a tight labor situation in the cotton textile industry and the near capacity operation of many mills.

With this year's crop exceeding the volume expected to be consumed domestically and exported, the carryover next July 31 probably will be larger than the 10,500,000-bale carryover of July 31, this year, the department said.

"The only cotton of which there is definitely an oversupply under existing war conditions is the short staple cotton, a high proportion of which is in the lower grades," the department said.

As a consequence, the department plans next year to ask farmers in short staple areas who normally produce cotton having a staple length of less than one inch to make an effort to shift to varieties having a staple length of one inch or more, or to shift from cotton to war food crops. Larger quantities of long staple cotton are needed, the department said, for war purposes.

"In many cases the shift to longer staple varieties will involve buying new planting seed, so farmers should determine as early as possible what varieties they will plant next season and make sure that they will have a sufficient supply of high quality seed," the department said.

Present prices it is particularly costly to use runout seed which yields less and staples shorter than high quality seed. The department said also that farmers should start now to plan for a decline in the supply of nitrate fertilizer by making maximum use of winter legumes and other fertilizer materials at their disposal.

Joint Plan To Get Chile's Full Co-operation Seen

CARACAS, Venezuela, Oct. 15.—(AP)—A joint effort by Colombia and Venezuela to bring Chile into fuller co-operation with the war effort of the American nations is under consideration, a high Colombian official source said today.

Gallup Poll Finds:

Bennett Up in Semi-Final Poll

By GEORGE GALLUP,
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Since President Roosevelt's endorsement of him, John J. Bennett, Democratic candidate for governor, has gained 4 points in popularity throughout New York state.

How much of this is attributable solely to the President's endorsement, and how much is due to the Bennett campaign, is, of course, a matter that cannot be determined with any scientific exactness.

Compared to the Institute's earlier report on the campaign, September 27, Thomas E. Dewey's percentage in the latest poll, completed this week, is down two points. The vote for Dean Alfange, American Labor Party candidate, has also declined two points since the September report.

Following is the way the situation stands today in the Institute's semi-final poll of New York state:

	Today Sept. 27	Sept. 27
Dewey	51%	53%
Bennett	41	37
Alfange	8	10

City Vs. Upstate.

In comparison to 1938, when Dewey ran for governor against Herbert H. Lehman and was beaten by a very small margin, today's poll shows Dewey running slightly better in New York city and about the same as 1938 in the upstate counties. The vote for the three principal candidates by city and upstate is as follows in the poll:

	N. Y. City	Upstate
Dewey	37%	64%
Bennett	48	34
Alfange	15	2

In 1938 the vote in the city was 35 per cent for Dewey, 65 per cent for Lehman. Upstate it was 63 per cent for Dewey, 37 per cent for Lehman.

Party Shifts.

The Institute's September 27 report showed that one principal source of Dewey's strength lay in the fact that a substantial number of 1940 Roosevelt voters said they were going to switch parties and vote for Dewey.

The latest poll shows that since President Roosevelt's endorsement of Bennett there has been some decline in the number of Roosevelt voters who say they will vote for the Republican candidate.

Whereas the total of this group was previously 33 per cent, today it has dropped to 28 per cent.

The division of the 1940 Roosevelt and Willkie voters is as follows on the governorship race:

	Roosevelt	Willkie
Dewey	28%	79%
Bennett	58	20
Alfange	14	1

Today's poll is a semi-final poll.

Live Shell Taken From Patient's Thigh

BRIGHTON, England, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Henry Coates, of London, is alive today thanks to the courage of a surgeon who removed a live German Messerschmitt cannon shell from his thigh—a dangerous operation almost without parallel in medical history.

Coates was wounded recently when a German plane bombed and machinegunned the building in which he was working.

Surgeons, knowing that shells of the type which penetrated Coates' leg frequently explode at the slightest touch, were faced with a rare dilemma. Finally they called in a bomb disposal squad, which suggested that with extreme care the shell might be removed.

Disregarding the danger to himself, Dr. Donald Hall, chairman of the Royal Sussex County hospital, undertook to perform the delicate operation. Assistants and nurses quickly volunteered to help and the operation was carried through without mishap.

Chewing Gum Shortage Faced As Army Buys Big Quantities

By EDITH GAYLORD.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(AP)—American youngsters, and some adults too, are facing a shortage of one of the things they're stuck on most—chewing gum.

Yes, the Army is buying it in quantities, principally for resale at overseas post exchanges, the Quartermaster Corps revealed. It also has been included in Army emergency ration kits as a reliever of thirst.

"It is not a component of regular garrison rations," a quartermaster officer said, "but it is being tried in emergency rations and we want to make it available to men overseas. The Army feels it helps provide a relaxation of nervous tension and also gives some sugar to the body."

Chewing gum manufacturers say that, in addition to the Army purchases, civilian demand for their product has risen, particularly among war workers.

"The present demand," said one major manufacturer, "is straining our manufacturing facilities to the limit while our raw materials have been severely restricted. We are managing to keep up on a level with our 1940 output, but the demand is so much greater than we can supply."

State Declares Atlanta Firms Quarantine on Urged To Turn Venereal Cases In Their Scrap

has made special funds available to combat venereal diseases as a war measure.

The state board will provide for transporting persons to the isolation posts and, when they are cured or their disease becomes non-contagious, will return them to the place where they were arrested or to any other place in the state to which they wish to go.

Report Required.

One rule promulgated by the board requires that, upon entering Georgia, any person with a venereal disease, whether contagious or not, must report within 24 hours after arrival to a licensed physician for treatment. If the person has been under treatment in another state, he must bring with him a statement of his condition from a licensed physician.

Anyone failing to do this is to be quarantined immediately and examined by proper authorities. If infected with a venereal disease in a contagious state, he is to be sent to an isolation post for treatment.

Every licensed physician also is required to report to the state board every case of venereal disease that he diagnoses, giving the name and address of the person infected.

If the person is a prostitute, or has no visible means of support, or is unable to pay for private treatment until cured or made non-contagious, then the state board will take her to an isolation post and administer treatment at public expense.

Visitors Restricted.

Public health officers, state, county and city, likewise, are required to report similar cases for compulsory treatment.

Persons placed in isolation posts must remain there, and must submit to necessary treatments, until a licensed physician or an agent of the state board declares they no longer are contagious.

Another rule is that any arresting officer "who shall arrest any person reasonably suspected of having venereal diseases, or who is known to be carrying on the business or trade of a prostitute, shall immediately report the name and place of detention of such person to the State Board of Health."

Then these persons are to be taken to isolation posts after they have served any sentence imposed for the offense for which they were arrested.

Another regulation is that no person of the opposite sex, other than the wife, father or mother, may visit a person in an isolation proved this point. For instance, the other day a letter from a business firm in Atlanta said that four or five tons of scrap had been turned in just before this drive.

"A few days later another letter from the same firm arrived. It told how the boss had taken three foremen and made another trip around the building. Seven and a half tons of scrap came out of that trip. The owner of the business expressed amazement at the fact that there was so much scrap left after 'everything had been collected'."

"We realize that some have not reported how much scrap they gathered and sent to dealers. We would like for all to turn in those reports. A card or letter to me at the Trust Company of Georgia or a telephone call to Walnut 2035, scrap headquarters, from the firms which have not reported certainly would help."

A department store which got out 27,160 pounds of scrap pointed out that it had been using "excellent rental space for storing needless material."

Another businessman told of seeing jalousies being railroad track on a recent trip from Florida. He estimated that only 50 per cent of the scrap available had been turned in.

Results of a series of drives have formed the basis for figures which prove that it takes four and five scrap drives to get out 50 per cent of the old metal, rubber and rags.

Griffin, after four drives which were successful, estimated only half the scrap in Spalding county had been turned in.

"So go back through the building again," Strickland urged businessmen. "If you find a machine or anything that hasn't been used for six months or won't be used for the next six months, mark it for the scrap heap. We've got to have scrap to win this war."

JUNK DRIVE.

LITHONIA, Ga., Oct. 15.—Under the direction of Fred Chapman, civilian defense chairman, the scrap drive is gaining momentum here. School children, P. T. A. members, and other citizens are collecting the junk by the wagon and truck loads.

post while the inmate is in a contagious condition. All visits may be made only with written permission, in daylight hours, and under other restrictions.

NEWS OF BLESSED RELIEF POW-O-LIN BRINGS SPREADS THROUGHOUT ALL GEORGIA

Thousands of Well-Known Men and Women; Ministers, Public Officials, Farmers, Railroad Men, Merchants, Housewives, Tell of Happy Relief and Strongly Endorse Pow-o-lin.

Scores of men and women who read this announcement and try Pow-o-lin for the relief of their suffering will, no doubt, join other thousands who have made grateful, heartfelt public statements telling of gratifying relief from distress that plagued them day and night. For instance, Mr. E. C. Butts, well-known meat cutter, residing at 36-P Ogletree Homes, Macon, declares:

MR. E. C. BUTTS

"Thanks to purely herbal Pow-o-lin, I am happily relieved of my aches, sluggish, worthless, let-down feeling and my work is no longer a burden. Sound, restful sleep is a joy and I am relieved of the gas pressure, headaches and distress that usually followed every meal. I don't have to take harsh laxatives. My relief from this harrowing distress is a joy. I can't describe. I owe Pow-o-lin my everlasting praise."

Pow-o-lin is a purely herbal laxative preparation, extracted from roots, herbs and barks for the relief of distress as plagued Mr. Butts when due to constipation. The first bottle is guaranteed to bring you gratifying, beneficial relief, or every red cent of your money back. Pow-o-lin may be obtained at all Jacobs Drug Stores, $1.25 size, special, 98c. By mail, add 10c for postage.—(adv.)

MEN 18 AND 19

CHOOSE your branch of the Army and get into the FIGHT FOR FREEDOM!

YOU have an outstanding opportunity today. The choice of any one of 13 branches of Army service is open to you. Only men of your own age group enjoy this privilege. You've got what it takes to make great fighting men. The ability to learn, the quick-acting alertness and the physical stamina that win battles and hold down losses.

Here are three things for you to think about—and act on—right now:

1. Your country faces the greatest danger in all its history. Everything you hold dear is under cruel and treacherous attack. To bring nearer the day when the boastful forces of our enemies are finally humbled, we've got to hit them first—hit them hard—keep on hitting them until we've won! Do you want to miss your chance to have a glorious share in that victory?

2. The sooner you are in the Army, the better you'll be prepared. You'll get thorough training, good pay—a chance for rapid promotion. If you're qualified, you'll be encouraged to enter an Officer Candidate School. Many men of your age have already won commissions.

3. Read carefully the list of Army services at the right. Before you're 20, you can make your own choice. Pick the one that appeals to you most, and that you're best fitted for. In every one you'll find thrilling action and adventure, along with sound training for a future career.

Call today at the nearest Army Recruiting and Induction Station and get full information about the branches of service that interest you. Talk it over with your family. And when you've made your choice, enlist with the knowledge that you're serving your country where you feel you can serve the best.

KEEP 'EM FLYING!

U.S. ARMY

RECRUITING AND INDUCTION SERVICE

Post Office Building, Atlanta, Ga.

MAKE YOUR CHOICE OF U. S. ARMY BRANCHES

AIR FORCES—Learn to fly and fight and keep 'em flying in one of more than 26 Air Force jobs. Bombardiers, navigators, pilots, gunners, radio men are needed in the air—mechanics on the ground. Train for a career in this fighting service.

ARMORED FORCE—Smash the enemy with a fast-moving, powerful team of tanks, combat cars, trucks, "jeeps," motorcycles. There's thrilling action for gunners, drivers, radio men and mechanics in the Army's tough armored divisions.

CAVALRY—Whether you like to ride a good horse or handle a fast armored car, motorcycle or truck, there's a place for you in the Cavalry's mobile striking force. The rougher the going the better the Cavalry likes it.

CHEMICAL WARFARE SERVICE—Here's your chance to be a combat soldier, firing chemical munitions. The 4.2-inch mortar, used for smoke screens to cover the advance of troops, will be one of your principal weapons.

COAST ARTILLERY—Want to aim an antiaircraft gun at a Jap—or help load and fire a giant coast defense gun? Service with the Coast Artillery will give you experience in gunnery, mechanics, electrical and radio work.

CORPS OF ENGINEERS—In the forefront of the fighting much of the time, you'll see a lot of action with the Engineers. Building bridges, roads, air-fields and tank-traps—planning camouflage—destroying enemy installations—are all in the day's work.

CORPS OF MILITARY POLICE—Reliable, clear-thinking men who know how to shoulder responsibility, the Military Police speed troop movements at the front and behind the lines, guard prisoners, enforce order. They're trained fighting men.

FIELD ARTILLERY—Here's the outfit that softens up the foe with a barrage of shells, smashes his supply lines, rains fire on his reserves. The guns roll fast behind speedy trucks and tractors. Plenty of action for daring drivers, gunners and mechanics.

INFANTRY—Moving 40 miles an hour in big trucks, skiing in snowy mountains, dropping by parachute or flying into enemy territory in transport planes, today's infantry is streamlined. Eleven different weapons give deadly fire-power. Upon enlistment you may request assignment for tank destroyer training.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT—Wherever the fighting is toughest the Medical units are on the job, saving lives. Ambulance drivers, laboratory technicians and able young men for many other duties are needed now in this vital service.

ORDNANCE DEPARTMENT—The supply and maintenance of all weapons are in charge of the Ordnance Department. Repairing tanks and guns under fire is a job for tough men. There's lots of room for daring drivers and good mechanics.

QUARTERMASTER CORPS—Battle smoke and burning shells can't stop the movement of food and supplies. Men in the front lines have to be fed. The Quartermaster Corps takes care of the troops wherever they are. The service develops resourcefulness.

SIGNAL CORPS—In the nerve center of the Army, Signal Corps men "get the message through." Radio, telephone and other means of swift communication are their tools. They work with "electronic sentries" and other secret weapons, and get front-line action and experience.

City's Self-Respect Based on Fund's Success, Says Mayor

The success of the Community Fund Appeal is the measure of Atlanta's self-respect, Mayor Hartsfield said yesterday in an address launching the activities of the Speakers' Bureau of the Appeal for the support of 32 charitable and character-building agencies.

FIVE STARS—Mrs. Clara Clary, 309 Patterson street, Valdosta, displays justifiable pride in the five sterling silver service stars, obtained through The Constitution, which she wears in honor of her five sons in the armed forces. (Story on Page 1.)

As a group of 100 men and women prepared to carry the Appeal throughout the metropolitan area by word of mouth, the Mayor said Atlanta was well able to take care of the needs of the thousands of people dependent on the agencies in this critical wartime year.

"The Atlanta area has a spendable income running into the hundreds of millions," he said, "and there will be many times more money in the pockets of our people, which we can't spend because of restrictions and rationing, than is needed for this task of keeping the Home Front strong."

One Day's Pay.
"Just a part of what we can't spend would put the Fund over." "An average of one day's pay on the part of every employed worker would more than raise the minimum requirement."

"Let there be no talk of sacrifice. This kind of giving, when our fighting men are giving everything, is not sacrificial giving. It is simply a measure of our self respect, our pride, and our determination to back up the war front by protecting the things at home which we are fighting for."

Dr. Herman L. Turner, chairman of the Speakers' Bureau, gave figures showing that Atlanta is not giving up to her capacity to meet her own human needs.

"Minimum Need."
A list of 166 of Atlanta's largest firms had 64,991 employees in 1941, and will have more this year, he said. In 1941, only 31,504 of these employees made any contribution to the Fund, and the average gift, excluding that of the firm itself, was only $1.09.

This is about 1-100 of a cent a day for each of the 32 agencies. George W. Winship, chairman of the Community Fund budget committee, described the process by which the minimum goal of $635,000 was established.

More than 600 individual men and women, all community leaders, had a part in the long study which resulted in the goal.

"I can testify that it is an actual, minimum need, and that it is essential to our community morale, health and safety that it be raised," he said.

German Helmet Added to Scrap

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.
ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 15.—A German soldier's helmet, picked up on a battlefield in France 24 years ago, is going into the Clarke county scrap collection with the hope that it finds its way back to Berlin in the form of bullets or maybe a bomb.

The helmet, camouflaged with green and gray paint and with a deep indentation in the forehead where a shell struck, has been given the local scrap drive by Mr. and Mrs. Max Michael.

Joe Solomons, resident of Savannah and brother of Mrs. Michael, brought the helmet home as a war trophy after serving in the first A. E. F. and gave it to her and she, in turn, has tendered it to J. Swanton Ivy, Clarke county scrap drive chairman.

Ruml Concurs With Treasury Suggestion To Drop '42 Taxes

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(P)—Beardsley Ruml, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, who devised a plan to place personal income tax payments on a current basis by eliminating 1941 taxes, said today the Treasury Department had suggested "if any year was to be dropped it should be 1942," and that he concurred.

Ruml said the necessity of bringing an anticipated total of 27,000,000 income taxpayers up to date in 1943 and make them substantially free of income tax debt was now "generally conceded."

Addressing the New York Rotary Club, Ruml said points in his original plan had been altered and

More Skilled Men Sought For Seabees

Lieutenant Bonacci To Be in Atlanta for Interviews.

Lieutenant Edward Bonacci, representative of the Navy's civil engineering corps, will be in Atlanta today, tomorrow and Monday to interview applicants for the Seabees, the Navy's famed construction regiments.

Men with special skills such as electricians, carpenters, painters, welders, boiler makers, mechanics, Diesel engine operators, painters, yeomen and a dozen other trades are needed and will be given good ratings. Money will be provided for their dependents.

The Seabees build advance bases for forces outside the continental limits of the United States. What they build they are trained to defend. The age limit is 17 to 50 and physical requirements are not as exacting as for other branches of the service.

Applicants should bring at least two letters pertaining to their experience to the Navy recruiting station in the new post office.

BRITISH SPENDING.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(P)—The government asked the house of commons today to approve the expenditure of another 1,000,000,000 pounds ($4,000,000,000) for the war, making a total of 4,000,000,000 pounds ($16,000,000,000) in votes of credit since last March 31, the beginning of the fiscal year.

Chatham Turns In 18,000,000 Pounds Scrap

Other Sections of State Comb Premises for War Materials.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 15.—(AP)—More than 18,000,000 pounds of scrap, over 150 pounds per capita, have been collected in Chatham county alone since the nation-wide newspaper scrap collection campaign started less than two weeks ago, the Savannah-Chatham Defense Council announced here.

The grand total—18,217,874 pounds—was as of Wednesday of this week and will be augmented greatly by last-minute efforts.

Collections in other parts of the state continued today, with Augusta preparing to boost its total in material form through removal of street car rails.

Mayor James M. Woodall yesterday said work on the rails would get under way within the next 10 days. An estimated 900 long tons of rail worth approximately $10,000 are still imbedded in the city streets there.

The Richmond county goal is 8,000,000 pounds for October, and two junk yards have reported already a total of 960,900 pounds ready for shipment.

During the current drive, 1,200 students for Richmond Academy and the Augusta Junior College made house-to-house solicitations for metal for use in the war effort.

The county-wide holiday plan for scrap collection continued to gain favor, Bulloch county declaring Wednesday, October 21, as a holiday. Schools, stores and theaters will close and approximately 200 trucks will be available for collecting the old metal.

Wilcox county, led by County Agent J. W. Richardson, has organized a county-wide drive which it is hoped will produce 100 pounds of scrap for each of the county's 12,753 residents.

Dalton, in Whitfield county, observed a half-holiday today as an aid in reaching the county's 2,611,400-pound quota.

Junior High school pupils at Cordele collected 10,850 pounds of APPOINTED—Judge A. J. Hartley, Atlanta attorney and president of the Georgia Justices and Constables Association, who has been named assistant attorney general of Georgia.

metal in the first two and a half hours of their drive. Five 13-year-old girls pulled a small coaster wagon loaded with 250 pounds of scrap nearly four miles.

In Cuthbert, the Cuthbert theater announced that a scrap matinee would be held each Friday, with five pounds of scrap the admission charge for each child.

Berry Schools combed their 30,000-acre campus and turned in 96 tons of scrap metal and the drive continued, officials said. The scrap was collected by the students.

At Athens, it was reported that school children there had changed the familiar cry of "Any old clothes today," to "Have you any scrap today," and that thousands of pounds were being turned in.

One Athens pupil had located an abandoned water mill with four tons of scrap, while another pupil found an abandoned bridge.

At Vidalia a heavy metal cornice was removed from a building and added to the scrap pile.

Judge Hartley Is Named Aide To Ellis Arnall

Atlanta Attorney Will Succeed Emil Clower, Resigned.

Appointment of Judge A. J. Hartley, well-known attorney and president of the Georgia Justices and Constables Association, as assistant attorney general of Georgia was announced yesterday by Attorney General Ellis Arnall.

Judge Hartley succeeds Emil J. (Sandy) Clower, who has resigned from the attorney general's office to become an officer in the United States Navy.

A native of Augusta, Judge Hartley practiced law in Atlanta after his graduation from the Atlanta Law School with an LL. B. degree. His career as an attorney in Atlanta won him the recognition of fellow attorneys, who elected him president of the Fulton County Bar Association several years ago.

For the last six years, Judge Hartley has been secretary-treasurer of the State Industrial Board, where he was recognized as one of the most efficient officials of the state government.

Judge Hartley is 41, a Baptist, member of the American Legion, Shrine, Elks, W. O. W. and Georgia Press Association.

Government Deposits Funds for Office Space

Declarations of taking were filed here yesterday with the clerk of the U. S. district court for office space in the Atlanta National Bank building, and property adjoining the former Ford assembly plant on Ponce de Leon avenue.

For the 3,500 square feet of office space the government deposited $14,682 with the court, and for the land, the sum of $2,675 was placed in the custody of the court.

The office space has already been occupied by the Army, and the Ford plant has been purchased for use by the Army air forces.

The First National Bank was listed as owner of the office building, and Guy H. Rutland, as owner of the land.

Jeffers Sees Tires for All If Restrictions Are Observed

AKRON, Ohio, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The nation's rubber boss indicated today that gasoline rationing and rigid observance of the 35-mile speed limit may bring tires for everybody.

Rubber Administrator William J. Jeffers, who arrived here today for a personal inspection of Akron's growing synthetic rubber industry, told newsmen:

"If people respond to our requests to go easy on their tires, there will be some rubber left over after military needs and essential workers are supplied. We've got to keep this nation on rubber to preserve its economic life."

The red-faced recent president of the Union Pacific Railroad declared he was concerned about "the average American like you and me. My concern is to keep the nation on rubber, not off it," he explained, and advised persons who are denied tires by rationing boards "to join our tire conservation program for the duration."

Asked if this country had caught up yet with Germany in the current annual rate of synthetic rubber production, the administrator replied: "I wish I knew. I can't comment on our present rate of production."

Jeffers described as "a tempest in a teapot" his recent appearance before the Senate Agriculture Committee, in which he asserted no pressure group was going to stop him from substituting rayon for cotton in heavy duty tires if the Army wanted rayon.

"But I sure got a lot of congratulations," he added, laughing. "One fellow wired in to me and said, 'Fine pitching, mister.' Now that's the kind of language I understand."

The rubber boss first visited Goodyear's government-financed synthetic rubber plant. His two-day itinerary also included visits to the Goodrich, Firestone, Seiberling and General plants.

RED-CROSS WORK.

LITHONIA, Ga., Oct. 15.—Red Cross activities begin here today with a knitting group sponsored by the welfare department of the Lithonia Woman's Club, which met at the home of Mrs. W. A. Crary. A canteen class and nutrition group are also planned by Mrs. Fred Chapman, chairman.

Three R's Give OWI New Problems

A mother who asked that her name be withheld presented a new problem for the regional Office of War Information yesterday.

Her son, she wrote, has reported to an Army induction center. She has not heard from him because he can neither read nor write and is "very much ashamed" to admit it, she explained. She asked how she could enable him to let her know how he is.

OWI's suggestion, passed along with Army advice, means a new duty for Army chaplains is resulting from the recently-started induction of illiterates who have special skills.

The Army said the mother should write to the induction center chaplain who would write a letter for her son if he is still there or communicate with the chaplain at the post where he might have been sent. It also was explained that reading and writing classes may soon enable the boy to write his mother himself.

1,400 Firms Contribute To Building of Bomber

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Building a B-24 Liberator, with its 315,000 separate parts, requires the combined services of more than 1,400 manufacturers in 28 states and the Province of Ontario, Canada, Consolidated Aircraft Corporation officials said today.

The far-flung system of sub-contractors and suppliers is credited by the company with speeding operations and "making it possible to build many of next year's planes now."

The four-engined B-24s are teaming up with the Flying Fortresses in devastating raids on Axis-held positions.

Army Needs Young Men, Dean Says

General G. S. Patten Jr.:

"Sergeant Leavitt is popularly known as 'Man Mountain' Dean. He has been used in the Armored Corps and at a desert training camp."

"In order to exploit the hero worship common among soldiers, it is felt that a man of Sergeant Leavitt's international athletic reputation would be of inestimable value at a replacement center, to give instruction in personal combat."

Too Much Desert.

Another letter from Camp Adjutant E. R. Coggins explained:

"Sergeant Leavitt, well known as 'Man Mountain' Dean throughout the country, had a schedule of training in self-defense in which all desert troops participated until his departure for William Beaumont General Hospital. While he is not able to stand the rigors of campaigning at this time, his interest in fighting men and his capability for aiding morale should warrant considering his offer to train soldiers in self-defense under more favorable climatic conditions."

The ex-sergeant reminisced about the desert:

"It was 140 degrees above zero every day—and I don't mean in the shade. There wasn't no shade."

Those two recommendations from his commanding officers are being used by "Man Mountain" in his efforts to get back into the service for less grueling work.

"I taught the boys that jiu-jitsu stuff of the Japs is a bunch of bunk. I taught little guys who weighed around 150 pounds how to toss me around."

Of course, the "Mountain" was just a shadow of his former self in that camp out on the far western desert. He had lost 68 pounds, dropping sharply from 317 to a mere 249.

"A little guy could handle me easy," he said. "All you gotta do to beat the jiu-jitsu is to be sure the other guy don't lay a hand on you. Then you send him a spinning. They was all convinced. They was just nuts to lay their hands on a Jap jiu-jitsu expert."

Gets Beard Back.

The last Atlanta saw of "Man Mountain" in the spring, he had shaved his beard off.

At his home in Norcross the beard was back on the old stand.

"Good old General Patton gave me back my beard," said the "Mountain."

"He saw me. I saw him. He asked me who I was. I said: 'Man Mountain Dean.' He looked at me and said: 'Where the hell's your beard?' I told him: 'The lieutenant made me shave it off.' And he said: 'You get that beard right back on. Why, hell, man, nobody will know you without that beard. What the hell's the use of havin'

"Man Mountain" in the Army if nobody recognizes him?"

So, here's the beard and the young in the Army.

"They ought to put the kibosh on taking in the old men. In the Army as it goes today, you can't work one day and rest the next. The old fellows are set in their ways. They've gotta stop and rest every now and then and you can't do that in the Army. The old fellows are okay as instructors—but not in the field."

The "Man Mountain" hopes he'll get a chance at easier work.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The line of least resistance continued downward in today's stock market.

Trends were shaky at the opening as the fresh war crisis in the Solomons caused some bidders to withdraw. Others lightened commitments on the thought that, with the correction of the lengthy recovery apparently starting, it might be advisable to cash in part of their profits. Several issues were depressed by individual situations.

While fractional declines ruled at the close, a handful of blue chips dropped 1 to more than 3. Cheering to bullish forces, however, was that dealings slowed on the set-back in contrast to pronounced activity during the recent upswing.

The bond market steered a fairly even course today with favored Rails holding mail attention near the final hour.

Off fractions to 2 points or so in the curb were Humble Oil, Gulf Oil, Aluminum of America, N. J. Zinc, Pittsburgh Plate Glass and Sherwin Williams. Minor plus marks were retained by Pantepec, Lake Shore, Venezuelan Petroleum and Electric Bond & Share. Turnover here 129,165 shares versus 101,745 the day before.

Downward Trend Is Marked

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The line of least resistance continued downward in today's stock market.

Trends were shaky at the opening as the fresh war crisis in the Solomons caused some bidders to withdraw. Others lightened commitments on the thought that, with the correction of the lengthy recovery apparently starting, it might be advisable to cash in part of their profits. Several issues were depressed by individual situations.

While fractional declines ruled at the close, a handful of blue chips dropped 1 to more than 3. Cheering to bullish forces, however, was that dealings slowed on the set-back in contrast to pronounced activity during the recent upswing.

The bond market steered a fairly even course today with favored Rails holding mail attention near the final hour.

Off fractions to 2 points or so in the curb were Humble Oil, Gulf Oil, Aluminum of America, N. J. Zinc, Pittsburgh Plate Glass and Sherwin Williams. Minor plus marks were retained by Pantepec, Lake Shore, Venezuelan Petroleum and Electric Bond & Share. Turnover here 129,165 shares versus 101,745 the day before.

ATLANTA, GA., OCTOBER 16, 1942.

Solomons Situation

On the face of new reports from the Solomon Islands, the American situation there would appear to be serious, which it undoubtedly is—at the moment. But there are factors which must not be overlooked.

The Japanese obviously have brought up heavy naval forces which enabled them to bombard the tenuous Marine positions on Guadalcanal and, under the cover of this bombardment, land troop reinforcements on another section of the cigar-shaped island.

The United States Navy revealed the shelling and the new troop landings almost immediately, which is a significant fact that displays a quiet confidence in the action which will, in a natural sequence of events, follow upon the heels of the Japanese movement.

The Japanese probably have moved heavy fleet units from their bases in the Caroline Islands area. Moving with transports, they cannot have proceeded with any great degree of speed or such mobility as would preclude observation by our screening submarines thrown out north of the Solomons into the area from which these heavy units would be forced to move. This enables the United States Navy to counter. That counter should be interesting.

Announcement of the fact that the Navy has an air base and other supporting installations on the island of Espiritu Santo in the New Hebrides group southwest of the Solomons shows the Navy has been preparing to make the pincer south of the island nests of the Japanese one which can only be dislodged by a major operation, one which the Nipponese can scarcely attempt today.

One factor in the Solomon operations deserves comment. The Marine landings were part of an offensive conducted almost in its entirety by the Navy with units under the command of Vice Admiral Gormley. It will be recalled that Gormley is the commander of all arms in the New Zealand theater of war, just as General MacArthur is commander of all arms in the Australian area. There has been a considerable, if ill-informed, criticism of the division of command in the south Pacific in this manner. It was felt that this constituted a division of command in what sometimes is regarded as a single theater. These critics did not consider that the Sydney-Wellington-Samoa-Solomons quadrangle is essentially a naval theater of war and that the continental Australian-New Guinea theater is essentially a land theater. And it is striking that the co-ordination of action between Gormley's units and those of General MacArthur has been exemplary.

Here are two great leaders operating their supposedly divided commands with complete co-operation in operations that, while apparently separate, constitute joint offensives both in the air and on the ground. MacArthur struck in strength across New Guinea almost directly west of Guadalcanal along the tenth degree of latitude as though in step with the Marine landings. His air force, particularly his bomber command, has struck hard at Japanese bases from which operations could be undertaken against the Solomons. There, almost unnoticed, as the co-operation between Army and Navy so loudly demanded by the breast-beaters.

There will be bitter fighting in the Solomons, but it won't be all one-sided. The Marines and the Navy have chosen their battleground, destined to be a major one in the Pacific war, and the Japs are having to do the fighting there. Barring a serious sequence of unforeseeable events, always a risk in war, it will be the most costly battleground they've ever run into. They're running smack into a buzz-saw.

Program at Emory

Tonight the first attraction in the Student Lecture program at Emory, for the 1942-43 season, will bring Margaret Speaks, one of America's most famous and most popular vocalists, in recital.

This attraction, like all in the series, will be presented in Glenn Memorial auditorium, at 8:30 o'clock, Friday evening.

Other attractions in the program include Rear Admiral Yates Stirling, of the United States Navy, who will speak on December 7, the anniversary of Pearl Harbor, on "American Sea Power in the Atlantic and Pacific." It is a striking coincidence that on December 7, 1940, the association presented another distinguished naval officer, Admiral Yarnell.

H. R. Knickerbocker, famous journalist, Pulitzer prize winner, will speak on February 1, on "With the United States Armed Forces Around the World." On February 11, Sir Norman Angell, formerly editor of "Foreign Affairs" and member of the British parliament, will discuss "The Problem of India," and the series will close on March 29 with Leland Stowe, ace war correspondent, who will tell his own experiences in the war zones and survey the then latest war developments.

Atlanta is fortunate in the opportunity to enjoy such a program. The fact that Emory University is located here pays dividends to the people of Atlanta in more ways than one, not the least being these annual lecture series which are always open to the general public. Informative, cultural and entertaining, the attractions selected for this year are exceptionally happy. Commonsense indicates the wisdom of taking fullest advantage of the chance to enjoy them.

National Bible Week

This is National Bible Week. Last year witnessed the inauguration of this nation-wide week set aside for special study of, and thought upon, the Bible. Henceforth, beginning with the current celebration, the week will be marked annually, opening on the second Monday in each October.

To the Christian there is little need to point out the advantages in careful reading and study of the Holy Book. He knows the truth of that advice, whether or not he follows it as fully as he should. To the man who is not adherent to any church or religion, to the man who knows little, if anything, of the Bible, however, there could be no better advice than to begin, at once, regular reading and careful examination of the Books to be found within that greatest example of all literature.

Aside from the spiritual benefit to be obtained, there are secular advantages in a working knowledge of the Bible. It has been said, truthfully, that no man can be a really great writer if he is not acquainted with the English language as used in the Bible. It is as necessary, for he who would perfect his literary equipment, as a study of Shakespeare. No man can gain a real knowledge of English who does not know, and know well, the King James Bible. In addition to this value, to anyone not familiar with the Book, there is a wealth of fascinating reading, some of the finest romances and adventures in all literature, awaiting between the covers.

And, whether the reading is undertaken for literary value, for sheer entertainment or for any other secular reason, rest assured the Bible cannot fail to exert a great spiritual benefit upon all who read. It is, from any view, the greatest book, the best seller, the finest collection of writing, ever compiled.

Georgia Editors Say:

A SERIOUS PROBLEM
(From The Brunswick News.)

We are in receipt of a letter from President Egbert Moxham, of the Brunswick Marine Construction Corporation, which, as is well known, is building Liberty ships for the U. S. Maritime Commission.

This letter from President Moxham goes to the very foundation of a serious problem now confronting ship builders engaged in government contracts from coast to coast.

We recognize thoroughly that members of draft boards all over the United States serve in a very serious and trying capacity involving a tremendous amount of work which often forces them to do things that do not and cannot meet with approval of all types of our citizenship. They have a serious obligation to perform and one upon which rests to a certain extent the proper recruiting of our Army.

However, it must be recognized that President Moxham makes a strong point in pleading to the boards to give special consideration to requests for deferment of men engaged in building ships for government service. As President Moxham points out, it is true that ships are essential today and tomorrow to the winning of the war as are our men on the firing line. Indeed, with the tremendous damage that enemy submarines have inflicted on our shipping, the necessity for new bottoms to provide for those sunk by the enemy has grown to tremendous proportions.

For these and obvious reasons, it is to be hoped that draft boards everywhere will give careful thought to requests from government ship builders for deferment to men deemed necessary in the various shipbuilding plants. It is admittedly a question full of perplexities when it is remembered that both the draft board and the shipyards have essential and necessary duties to perform in the winning of the war.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

HOTBED OF NAZI SPIES WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Some time ago the police of Cuba arrested a Nazi spy by the name of Lunfing. Later given the death sentence, the spy admitted he had been operating a secret radio station sending valuable information to Axis submarines in the Caribbean.

Ramifications of the trial developed that Lunfing had been getting much of his information from another Axis agent in Santiago, Chile, one Carlos Robinson. Apprehended by the Santiago police, Robinson in turn implicated Alfredo Kleiber, director of a German bank in Chile, who, it was revealed, was working with Axis agents in Barcelona, Spain.

From these beginnings our intelligence service unearthed a hotbed of Nazi espionage activities centering in Chile and Argentina—the only two Latin American republics which have not either declared war or severed diplomatic relations with Germany. All of the military information getting back to the Axis concerning our plans has been traced to this source.

The information is sent out of the United States to Santiago or Buenos Aires in coded form, or as commercial letters conveying secret messages. Many of the ship sinkings off our coasts were attributed to leaks of the kind. Somebody got wind of ship movements and passed it on to the Axis agents.

Recently the Japs announced in Tokyo that the United States was building 10,000-mile-range bombers—great ships capable of flying the distance from our west coast to Japan and back without refueling. It was supposed to be one of our main military secrets. Yet the Japs learned about it.

THAT CODE LEAK Earlier the Japs changed their naval code within 48 hours after the publication of a story here hinting that we had broken their code. There was just about time enough for a message to clear to South America and be relayed on to Japan.

All of this offers something of a background for the straightforward speech made in Boston the other night by Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, who minced no words in calling the two South American countries to task.

"I cannot believe," he said, "that these two republics will continue long to permit their brothers and neighbors of the Americas, engaged as they are in a life-and-death struggle to preserve the liberties and integrity of the New World, to be stabbed in the back by Axis emissaries operating in the territory, and under the free institutions of these two republics of the Western Hemisphere."

CHANGE OF METHOD Undoubtedly the Welles speech was delivered with the full sanction of the government in Washington. Hence it may be taken as marking a blunt departure from the glove-handed policy we have adopted in the past for having the two countries go along with our war program.

Henceforth we have sought to persuade them through the usual diplomatic channels and an application of the good-neighbor policy to co-operate with our war aims. Evidently the efforts have been to no avail. Forced out of the other Latin republics by declarations of war or the severance of diplomatic relations, the Axis agents have a free hand in the Argentine and Chile. The two countries constitute the last foothold of the Axis in the Western Hemisphere.

What Mr. Welles has done is to serve notice on the governments of the two countries that the United States will have no more of their dickering with the Axis. He did not put it quite that bluntly, but that is the unmistakable meaning of his words. If something is not done to correct the conditions complained of, further and more drastic action may be expected.

INTOLERABLE The situation as it exists today is intolerable. We allow the Chilean and Argentine diplomatic representatives to use the full freedom of friendly nations. Yet their governments are harboring a nest of Nazi activities against us, passing on every bit of war information that comes into their possession. It is a leak that should be plugged immediately. If the two republics do not want to go along with us and their neighbors, the least we should do is to sever relations with them, sending their representatives home and closing the door to all commercial and diplomatic intercourse. Each of them constitutes a source of information that the countries could stand up against that sort of isolation.

To some extent, the same policy should be adopted with respect to Spain, Vichy France and all other governments maintaining embassies in Washington which are known to be working on a friendly basis with the Axis. Each of them constitutes a source through which valuable military information may leak to our enemies. The smallest kind of a leak may cost us many lives and ships—might even serve to prolong the war indefinitely.

TRUE WORLD WAR This is more truly a world war than any other. It is a war in which the remaining neutral nations of the world stand up and be counted. If they are not willing to co-operate on our side, then steps should be taken to see that they are not in position to do us injury by quietly aiding the enemy while enjoying the freedom of our country.

Creatures Of Habit.

Of Habit.

It is a very ancient maxim, that we humans are creatures of habit. rarely do we act according to intelligent reasoning. Almost all the things we do are the result of habit. We do 'em just because we are accustomed to doing them, and that's all.

There is a new baby at our house. Just about two weeks old. She makes the four-foot grand-daughter. Yes, four of 'em.

There seems to be a law, or something, forbidding grandsons in our family. Maybe we can get Ellis Arnall to persuade the legislature, next January, to repeal the law. So, if there should be any more in this third generation, there could be one boy in the lot.

Not, let me hasten to assure, that there is any disappointment. Each one of the four little girls is the ultimate specimen of perfection. Each has qualities of her own. And each says and does things! For instance—Oh, well, perhaps you're not interested.

But, to revert to the latest addition, this two-week-old has already developed habit. That early. The fact is confirmed by the doctor who paid a call on Wednesday.

Hospital Started It.

The young lady has one habit that has caused concern, trouble and weariness among the older members of the family. That is the habit of doing nine-tenths of her crying at night.

Now a baby has to do a certain amount of crying. That is desirable for the proper development of the lungs. But why, oh, why, can't that crying be done in the daytime, when it won't disturb the needed rest of folks who have to work all day. Including the women folks who work harder at home than those of us who have offices to go to for the performance of our labors. Taking care of a new mother and baby, in addition to normal household tasks, is no cinch, you know.

Doctor says it is the fault of the hospital that babies are so apt to do their crying between the hours of, say, midnight and 6 a. m. Because in the babyroom at the hospital there is a light on, all night. The babies get used to it during the week or 10 days spent there.

Then, when they come home and are expected to sleep peacefully in a dark room, they just resent it. It is their habit, see, to leave light while they sleep, and they're going to raise objections if deprived of it.

The answer? Just keep a dim light burning in the room where the baby sleeps.

But there is another trouble. Doctor says this baby hasn't been getting sufficient food, in the way of nature, so now her diet is being augmented by bottle-formula. And, in the few days while she has gone more or less hungry, she has naturally become fretful and cried too much. With another natural result. Grandmother has soothed her fretfulness by holding her in a rocking chair, or softly patting the tiny back and otherwise comforting her. "Spoiling her" is the proper phrase.

Well, even though the food scarcity has now been remedied and she is, therefore, more peaceful and less cryful than she has been, she has already acquired the bad habit of desiring to be held and rocked. Bad habits that quick, you see.

Will Take Time.

Says the doctor, it will just take time and a hardening of the maternal heart to cure the young'uns of this bad habit. Just have to let her cry in her crib, provided it is not of a type to do her harm, until she learns that wails won't bring someone to hold her and pet her. In other words, she's supposed to unlearn a bad habit at the age of two weeks, mind you.

And grandmother is going to have to be awfully hardhearted and stern with herself. You know what grandmothers are? When a little baby cries there is overpowering temptation to take it up. Grandmothers are much worse in this improper practice than are mothers. Always.

But what this column started out to demonstrate was that we are all creatures of habit. Even at two weeks old.

And it is hard to unlearn bad habits and conduct ourselves according to intelligent reasoning instead.

Which is why it is so hard to put ourselves into the war effort 100 percent. For we've got to unlearn the easy habits of peace and learn the stern discipline of war.

Get busy, fellow. Check your habits and unlearn the ones that are interfering with your own fullest effort for victory. It's a tough job, but it's got to be done.

Criticism

Qualified

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Edwin C. Barringer, president of the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, of Washington, who has been quoted before in these dispatches as an authority on the quality of the steel in automobile bumpers, sends further information and rather encouraging, too. He had said last week that, although the bumper steel itself was very good and highly desirable as scrap, the plating was a detriment and to this extent he threw ashes on the slide. However, Mr. Barringer now says this objection may be minimized if bumpers be admixed with other steel in the melting.

"It will be necessary for the mills to be judicious in melting them," he says. "In other words, if too many bumpers got in one heat of steel, the chrome and nickel plating would be detrimental to the quality of the new steel, especially its weldability."

"In any event, after seeing the quality of much of the scrap that has been coming in in the salvage drives, particularly bedspring, galvanized garbage cans and ashtrays, sleeked whose only steel is a thin runner, and baby carriages whose only metal is in the wheels, etc., those bumpers are going to look pretty good. Bring them out and our dealers will expedite them to the mills."

He inclosed a release for last Monday's morning papers from the O. A., which most of us probably missed, announcing that, effective October 15, uncut bumpers would be classified as No. 2 heavy melting steel and explained that this means that the dealers may now ship them whole to the mills without shearing them in half. It seems that at their full length they couldn't be handled and that it was both hard and laborious to cut them in half.

Need Is Urgent The O. A.'s handout said this revision of the classification of uncut bumpers was intended to speed the flow of this grade of steel to the mills and that certainly must mean that they are badly needed, although, at first, and for some months back, they seemed not to want to bother. But, after all, those bumpers have to be melted down some time and the job will be no harder now than later, besides which, if Mr. Barringer is right, the need is urgent.

Assuming that it will still be necessary to cut some of the five-foot bumpers in half, but that our government has decided to meet this problem at the mills, whereas, before, the cutting was done in the scrap yards. However, a great amount of the bumper steel riding around on more recent cars comes in sections and needn't be cut at all.

The Yonkers (N. Y.) Herald-Statesman is, as far as I know, the first outfit to run a real demonstration to stimulate this collection. Under the promotion of Charles Poletti, our lieutenant governor, said the local war salvage committee was setting an example for other communities to follow. The day's loot was 4,660 pounds, all free and ready to ship, and the interesting discovery was made that the bumpers weigh 18 pounds each, which would mean that the total yield, if all bumpers were turned in, would be more than half a million tons. In my first estimate I chanced a guess that the total would be between 300,000 and 500,000 tons, but now the higher figure seems to be just a little short of the probable yield.

Wooden Bumpers The Herald-Statesman had mechanics on hand to remove the bumpers and said the operation, in some cases, took as little as one minute. The donors got stickers for their cars reading, "Careful! Bumpers in scrap!" and wooden bumpers could be bought at cost on the spot and installed at nearby garages.

Now people are beginning to draw beads on abandoned gasoline filling stations, particularly in the rationed states of the east, but not forgetting the rest of the country where rationing will soon be enforced. There must be an awful lot of metal there, but up to now it is just one of those ideas off the end of the tongue and there may be over-powering reasons why it would be better not to scrap these expensive installations yet awhile, anyway.

Well, as to the bumpers, the government now plainly is inviting them, but, as Johnny Kieran, the noted know-it-all of Information Please, remarked the other day at a luncheon and speaking for the car promoting the bumper collection, the government has the power to come and get them at any time, so maybe those who are throwing theirs in voluntarily are only jumping the gun.

Wild Woods of Georgia

Red hills of Georgia clad in gold
And brown and green and blue unfold
While Autumn breezes roughly sway—
"Limb, reaching leafy arms to pray."
Shades in a different hue than spring.
The goldenrod, the poplar tree
With purple daisies mingles here
And diamond dust of crystal dew
Makes morning glories bloom anew.

Then rains and sleet and "ho, behold!"
The limbs are bare, the earth is cold
The daisies dropping on the ground
Disturb the still night with their sound
For Winter with its icy breath
Has bid vegetation rest.
And blankets all with snow so white
That even all growing out of sight
Till spring comes knocking at the door
And calls "Arise and bloom once more."

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

SOME MORE HYSTERIA

The enemy agents, unwitting agents, are at it again. Yesterday there was going around town a hysterical sort of rumor that things were going so badly with our war effort that the 18-19-year-old boys would be sent overseas after a bare six weeks' training.

There was another that the government didn't have enough warm clothes for them and they would suffer from the cold this winter. There was another that so many thousands had died of obscure tropical diseases that replacements were needed immediately.

Now, I realize that a mother whose 18 or 19-year-old son is going off to war isn't in a position to be entirely calm. Yet, she owes it to herself to be calm and to think things out. All three of these rumors are false. Let's examine them.

THE FIRST ONE In the first place, any young man going into this war has a better chance coming back than did the young men of 1917-18. They have a much better chance.

Why? Because they are getting sufficient training. There were some ghastly things which happened in the first World War. They won't happen in this one.

In the first place, disabuse your mind of the fact that all that happens to your son is that he gets a gun and starts using it. This is a technical war and a technical army. He will get something no young man got in the first war. That is an aptitude test. He will then be put, if it is at all possible, where he will do the best job. Some jobs will be in the front line. Others won't. In this war there is no real front line. Airplanes have changed that.

In this war, for instance, the submarine has come to be a safer place to be than some of the surface vessels.

There is danger everywhere. But these young men of today have a better chance because they are trained. Our aviators are trained much longer than those of any other country. Our soldiers get longer basic and more special training.

After the 18-19-year-olds get their basic, of six to eight weeks, they then will get their specialized training. The Marines, for instance, go from Parris Island and six weeks there, to New River, N. C., for two or three months of specialized training.

In the Army they will be sent to tanks, to ground schools, to infantry schools for special training.

Their equipment is better than in 1917.

Let's examine how the rumor got started. A congressman suggested that none of the young men be sent over in less than a year. This was protested. Why? Because many of them will be trained abroad in special fields before going into combat. Others are ready after six months of intensive training. Some of them won't come back. The Army officials today know the heart-break of it just as the officers in the south and north broke their hearts when they saw 15 and 16-year-old boys going into the army.

The boys of that age started out in the German army. I suppose the German mothers felt the same way.

War is tragic, exacting and inexorable. But if your boy is one that is going, you can know this—he has better training, more training, and better equipment than any other soldier in any other war the United States has ever fought.

THE NEXT TWO Your boy will have plenty of warm clothing. The first thing the Army does, if he isn't in the tropics, is to give him warmer clothes than he ever had at home. They give him woolen underwear—yes, long drawers and undershirt. He will wear them, too. He won't wear the short "skivvies" he has been wearing all winter at home.

He will have good shoes and good socks and a good overcoat. That rumor is just one of the hysterical kind that get started. God knows where.

It isn't true. The Army has enough clothing. As for tropical diseases, this Army is the healthiest one we have ever had. They all got the preventive shots before they went. Those who go will get them.

The only thing that has puzzled the Army has been some attacks of yellow jaundice. This hasn't been dangerous, but it has made some of them sick.

The Army in the tropics is doing such a fine job as far as health is concerned that it has been the subject of recent articles in medical journals. At Tulane University they will tell you how many graduates of its tropical school of medicine have been sent with the Army to the tropics.

These three rumors are lies spread by hysterical people who unwittingly are causing many mothers needless sorrow. And worry.

AS FOR THE WAR The war is going better. No one knows how much better. But it is going better. Not since June has Japan made any advances. We have taken back a very small bit of territory. We have won some small sea battles. Germany has been held in Russia.

In Egypt Rommel is held and has been pounded severely. It is not possible to say the war has turned. It may have. It may not have. We won't know, until the war is over, when the war did turn.

Don't believe rumors. Some are started by our enemies to upset our domestic morale. Others are started by stupid people. Stamp them out when you meet them.

You Can't Let Him Beg for Bread After He Has Saved Your Life

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

Military medals, like other commodities, have value in proportion to the scarcity and the difficulty of obtaining them. Iron crosses, in the other war, were a dime a dozen. They seemed to be awarded to every German who approached the front near enough to smell powder.

The Allies cheapened their medals in the same way. They decorated one another's generals as a gesture of co-operation, and the distribution of orders became so generous that it seemed almost a distinction not to have one.

Sweet Potato Rubber, Autumn Foliage and Other Important Things

"Sweet Potato Probable Rubber Source"—News Item.

How cunning are the minds of men, how devious their ways; the shortage of materials no wheel of progress stops! Now let us contemplate the fields where sweet potatoes lie; the succulent and tender yam which once was used for pie.

If dreams of men envision such a magic feat as this the farmers of our native state will live in solid bliss; their plows will turn the stubborn soil and, in this great advance, they may go out and reap a tire or pair of rubber pants.

No longer will we have the yam to use in custard pie, for with the great demand for them the price is sure to rise. Perhaps we'll then have rubber pies and though they may be bad they'll be as good as some potato pies we've had.

This Time of Year

Just as it has been my custom for years to pay tribute to the Fourth of July, speak favorably of Christmas and kind words about St. Patrick's Day, I have indulged about this time of autumn in a panegyric about the beauties of the north Georgia mountains, where the foliage presents a landscape so broad no painter would tackle it—with prices of paint and canvas being what they are. Friend who is a camera fiend (and he'll die in the poor house) called me up a few days ago to inquire about the best time to take color pictures of the mountains in all their autumn glory. He said I was generally considered an authority on that as well as other subjects, such as how to get fleas off a dog, how to avoid spinach, how to sleep in a picture show without snoring—and other things. Why should I take issue with him?

Unless this newspaper provides me with a U-Drive-It car, equipped with gas and tires, I am afraid I shall not be able to give a personal report on the mountain foliage situation at this time to take. But, I might remark to seekers of the crimson maples, the golden hickories, all the gorgeous panorama of the mountainsides in autumn, that the only difference between a mountainside and a suburban road is in the expanse thereof.

Of course, you may miss the winding roads, the sound of the torrents roaring over rocky river beds, the mountain camp resort with more fried chicken and country ham and gravy than you can eat—until you try it and holler for more—and all that makes a week-end voyage to the mountains so delightful. (Dadburn it, I wonder how my tires and gas ration would hold out.)

But, if autumn foliage is your heart's desire, you may see it from now on at home. Atlanta, like most of her people, is still right in the country. You can go to Druid Hills or out Roswell road or almost anywhere and get a big eyeful of trees donning their new autumn outfits. I'd guess they'd reach their pinnacle of perfection in a couple of weeks, depending upon the weather. But one of my favorite maples, on Peachtree road, is just about tops now.

GOVERNMENT LOTTERIES.

Well, well. Once again we have the proposed solution of all governmental expense by the mere passing of a law to put the government into the gambling business.

It goes by the fragrant name of government lotteries.

This time the proposal comes from Representatives Knutson (Republican, Minnesota) and Sabath (Democrat, Illinois).

"Based on the contention that a nation that uses a lottery to draft its men for war shouldn't object to the same method for helping to finance the struggle, a drive for a national lottery law was under way Friday on Capitol Hill," began the (AP) story out of Washington under date of October 9, one week ago today.

Timing their renewal of the lottery scheme with Secretary Morgenthau's demand for an additional $6,000,000,000 as soon as the present tax bill is out of the way, Knutson and Sabath evidently hope for a squeeze play. They ought to create public opinion for this latest effort at a national lottery by declaring, "It's either a sales tax or a lottery!"

Knutson was quoted further as saying that he believed that of the two, the people generally would prefer the lottery.

Knutson claims that his bill would yield around a billion a year. Proceeds from the lottery, according to his bill, would be used to finance the war and afterward to increase old-age pension payments. He would have more than 140,000 monthly winners, the prizes to begin at $100,000 and go down to $100. Tickets would be handled through the Treasury and Post Office Departments, selling for $2 each.

Sabath is still more benevolent and gracious. His bill would provide tickets for only $1, and he would count on 2,223,832 winning ticket holders. Sabath wouldn't, however, make his first prize quite so high. His prizes would run from $62,500, though a lucky gambler might manage to draw a combination netting him as much as $125,000.

But look. "Both Knutson and Sabath conceded there would be quite a commotion if congress decided to put the government in the gambling business. Principal objection to the lottery, Sabath said, likely will come from church groups. But, he added, some of these objections lack sincerity because the objectors in many cases themselves participate in bingos and raffles for church benefits, and these things are nothing but forms of gambling."

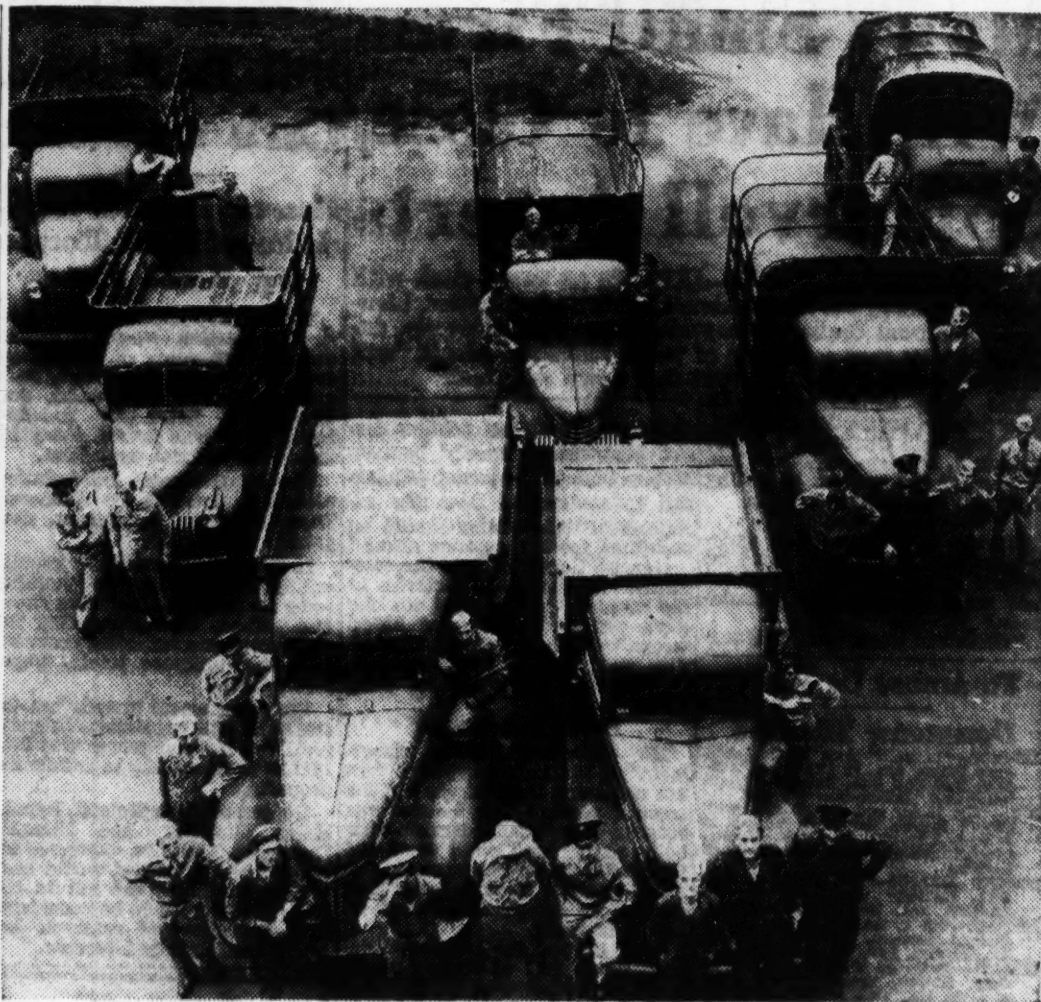

I agree with Mr. Sabath that games of chance, if used by churches or any other group for the purpose of swindling people out of money, constitute a clear case for prosecution. Knutson and Sabath unintentionally, perhaps, pay the church people a high tribute when they contemplate opposition from the churches to their scheme. They are exactly right. There will be plenty of commotion, but I would venture to predict that they will not get to first base with their scheme.

equal ease and grace and also balances himself—or herself—in the air without either achieving or losing progress—like a helicopter. He was going on to tell me how Gwendy Lou—that's the hummingbird's name—also hums the first movement of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony—but somebody cut off the phone at that point.

Mr. Dallas also reports that at a luncheon a few days ago to a group of Swedish journalists there were 29 men present and only one woman—Margaret Mitchell, who carried off the situation with savoir faire, elan and the ease for which she is justly famous.

But Peggy has nothing on me. I once attended a Woman's Club barbecue at a country club at which I was the only male, barring the waiters. Not even a photographer showed up. I cannot remember any occasion, before or since, when I have been so popular.

Pastor Yields Deferred Rating, Chaplain Bars for Paratroops

Giving up a minister's deferred rating and turning down a chaplain's commission to be an ordinary soldier is the fulfilled ambition of Emmett A. McNabb.

McNabb, the son of Mrs. W. A. McNabb, of 1230 Peachtree street, left his pastorate of the Mirror Lake Christian church in St. Petersburg, Fla., in June, after four years, determined to become a private in the parachute troop, and he arrived at Fort McPherson Saturday to take his first steps in that direction.

"Since I am 29 years old and am in perfect health I feel that I must be with the other men in the service," This was his answer to General William I. Arnold, chief of chaplains at Washington, who had placed McNabb's name at the top of the list for a chaplain's commission.

The young pastor, who began planning his enlistment after Pearl Harbor, felt that he could influence the ordinary soldiers more if he suffered the same hardships and experiences they underwent.

After finishing his four-year term at the St. Petersburg church, McNabb traveled to cities and towns near Army camps to talk to the men already in the service. But this evangelistic work was not enough, and he returned to Atlanta to enlist.

However, McNabb has not given up the ministry by any means. In his letter to General Arnold, he said, "The ministry is my life."

McNabb had spent three years at Huntington, W. Va., as pastor of the Christian church before he went to Florida. He attended the Bob Jones College in Tennessee, and the Evangeline Christian school at Newark, N. J., finishing at Columbia University.

Soon he will leave for Fort Benning, where he will begin his training as a parachute trooper and an ordinary soldier.

Man Proves A Bullet's In His Heart

Elijah White, Negro, accused of vagrancy yesterday before Judge Jesse M. Wood, of the criminal court of Fulton county, said he couldn't work because he had a bullet in his heart. In his defense, Dr. Sam H. Greene displayed X-ray photographs of White's heart showing a 38-caliber bullet in it.

White explained that back in 1936 he had a disagreement with another Negro, with the result that both shot at each other. The other man's bullet, he said, lodged in his heart and has been there ever since.

The unusual plea, however, failed to convince Judge Wood that White couldn't work. The judge gave him a sentence of 12 months on the public works.

White has a record for violations of the lottery and liquor laws.

The spokesman said, "The German government, he added, would not only deal with the Swiss papers concerned but would also address itself to responsible Swiss quarters."

Smyrnan Wins 2d Award for Heroic Action

Lieutenant Thomas Talley Decorated for New Guinea Attack.

Oblivious to the Jap Zeros thick in the air around him, a young B-25 pilot swung his hefty craft low over an airdrome at Lae, New Guinea, watched his crew deposit the bombs they had brought, zoomed upward for a running battle against 25 enemy fighters and then landed his badly damaged plane at its base without injury to a man aboard.

That is the "gallantry in action" which brought Second Lieutenant Thomas Peter Talley, Smyrna, Ga., boy his second decoration since the war in the Pacific started.

Lieutenant Talley, son of Mrs. T. P. Talley, and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Benedict, of Church road, was one of seven officers announced by General MacArthur's headquarters as winners of the Oak Leaf cluster.

Lieutenant Talley is already the possessor of a Silver Star, awarded to him for his part in the April raid on the Philippines by Brigadier General Ralph Royce. The attack on Lae, New Guinea was staged May 25, advances from General MacArthur's headquarters stated.

Lieutenant Talley attended Fitzhugh Lee High school in Cobb county.

New Sugar Stamp To Be Good Nov. 1

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Sugar ration stamp No. 9 will be good for the purchase of three pounds of sugar for home use between November 1 and December 15, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

Stamp No. 8, which calls for five pounds, expires at midnight October 31.

OPA also announced allotments for industrial and institutional users for November and December.

An allotment of 85 per cent has been established for hospitals treating patients suffering from acute illness and temporarily residing in the hospital.

Reynolds Now Father Of Six-Pound Daughter

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—A six-and-one-half-pound baby daughter was born today to Senator and Mrs. Robert R. Reynolds of North Carolina, at the home of Mrs. Reynolds' mother, Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, capital city leader.

Both mother and child were reported doing fine.

The 58-year-old senator was married October 9, 1941, to the former Evelyn Washington McLean, 20. She is his fifth wife. It was her first marriage.

Reynolds has two daughters and one son by two of his previous marriages.

Many Small Firms Will Have to Close, Somervell Asserts

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—In an angry clash with the chairman of the Senate Small Business Committee, Lieutenant General Brehon Somervell, Army chief of supply, declared today that hundreds of small industrial plants "will have to close and you can put that down as a fact."

The Army simply cannot fit them into its production program, Somervell told Chairman Murray, Democrat, Montana, who had hotly accused the general of failing to utilize small business fully.

"Pious Protestations." Murray said Somervell's statements that small plants would be utilized to the fullest possible extent were mere "pious protestations."

"We intend to see to it," the senator said.

Mountain Gals, Cowboys Spur City Bond Sale

'Opry' Producers Turn U. S. Salesmen on Street Here.

Cowboys without horses and mountain gals without mountains sold bonds without trouble yesterday in front of the Henry Grady hotel.

They were the Camel Caravan, producers of "grand old opry," for radio and stage, who paused during a tour through this section to spur up bond buying with a street scene of western and hillbilly music accompanied by impromptu wisecracks and much hollaballoo.

In a couple of hours yesterday and the day before, the Caravan induced passersby to invest a couple of thousand bucks in the nation's best bargain-bonds, and meanwhile amused throngs which blocked Peachtree street as effectively as Georgia Tech's forward line could have done.

Performers included Eddie Arnold, the master of ceremonies; Kay Carlisle, Minnie Pearl, Pee Wee King, Hank Waters, Ciel Summie, Chuck Wiggins, and the gal called San Antonio Rose—no other alias given.

These Caravan singers and musicians and others of the troupe entertained the boys out at Fort McPherson Wednesday night.

Georgia Sailor Killed in Action

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 15.—Mrs. C. A. Darnell, of Clarke county, has received notice from the Navy Department that her son, Fireman First Class Claude H. Darnell, was killed in action aboard the U. S. S. Gregory at the time that vessel was sunk.

Fireman Darnell was a native of Oglethorpe county and graduated from Arnoldsville High school. He also attended the Berry Schools at Rome before entering the Navy five years ago. He was 23 years old.

Pure Infantile Paralysis Virus Believed Isolated for First Time

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(INS)—

The long-elusive virus which causes infantile paralysis has apparently been isolated for the first time, it was revealed today.

This noteworthy advance in medical science, which is expected to aid greatly in developing new methods for the prevention and treatment of the crippling malady, has been made by Dr. Efraim Racker, of the Harlem hospital, in New York.

Further research is needed to make it absolutely sure that the completely pure virus, the incredibly small infectious agent of infantile paralysis, has been obtained.

But careful examination of the newly obtained substance, a protein in crystalline form, indicates it is the pure virus itself.

When a very minute fraction of the new substance was injected into mice the animals developed infantile paralysis in 24 to 72 hours.

Dr. Racker conducted his research at the laboratories of the financial aid of the National University of Minnesota, with the Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

His further experiments, designed for making sure that he has found the pure virus or for still greater purification, will be carried out at the Harlem hospital laboratories.

Dr. Racker has presented the details of his method of isolating the virus in a communication to "Science," organ of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The original material employed by Dr. Racker in his work was taken from the brain of a mouse which was heavily infected with the virus of infantile paralysis. The virus was derived from a patient of this disease.

At present medical scientists are not very hopeful of immunizing human beings against infantile paralysis with vaccines or curing the patients with serums.

But when it becomes possible to prepare enormous quantities of pure "antibodies," virus-fighting substances, from the pure virus particles themselves, the whole outlook might be radically changed.

'Plant a Garden' Is Advice Of Experiment Station Head

GRiffin, Ga., Oct. 15.—(P)—So now with food prices what they are, you're thinking a bit more seriously about planting something in that backyard space, but you wonder if—honest-to-goodness—it's worthwhile.

Well, says Dr. H. P. Stuckey, 38 years director of the Georgia Agricultural Experiment Station here—"it is, but."

First, plant what you know your family is going to eat, not what you think they ought to learn to like.

Second, don't buy enough seed to plant a farm field if you've just a plot.

The so-called "Victory Gardens," says Dr. Stuckey, serve two good purposes. "If you grow it at home, you don't have to worry whether the stores have it or not," and "by growing it at home you leave it in the stores for the fellow who lives in an apartment and can't raise it."

And you really stand a good chance of having a good productive garden without being a pro.

Don't bother about a soil analysis. Just break up your plot well with plow or pick, and never mind all the tangles of expensive and complex fertilizer mixtures. Leave them for the farmers who know what they're doing.

The truth is, says Dr. Stuckey, two of the best fertilizers are easily available to you—the leaves, etc., from your yard, and the table scraps you've been feeding old Rover and the cat.

With your yard, wash, dig a hole and let it rot this winter and work it into the soil next spring. With table scraps, each day scrape a little trench in the ground with a hoe or pick and dump it in. If you've got a winter garden, make your trench parallel to your rows and extend it each day.

What to grow? That depends on where you live and the time of year and the best thing is to consult your county agricultural agent. How to plant? Well, to keep from getting too technical, a good rule is to bury the seed about four times its diameter. That means the little seeds are nearer the top and the bigger seeds further down. As to distance apart, visualize the grown plant and figure how much territory you think it will take.

Now for plant insects. (Confidentially, Dr. Stuckey says they even bite the stuff the experiment station grows.) Be careful here. Before you go applying poisons, talk to your county agent. The object is to poison only the bugs. However, here's one thing—if you will get a container and put some water in it and then about an eighth of an inch of kerosene on top, any bug you can pick off the plant will cash in his chips when you dump him in.

Next to last, eat what you raise, can the rest or give it to some friend who doesn't have a garden. It gives you that philanthropic feeling.

And finally, having started don't be a quitter.

Reduced for Cargoes

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(P)—The Institute of London Underwriters announced today a reduction in cargo war risk insurance rates between the Americas and Australia.

The rate between Australia and North, Central or South America (Atlantic or Gulf ports) via the Panama canal or Pacific Ocean, excluding Pacific ports via the Pacific, was reduced from 15 to 12.5 per cent.

The corresponding rate for New Zealand and the Pacific islands was cut from 15 to 12.5 per cent.

The rate for Pacific ports via the Pacific to or from Australia remains at 7.5 per cent, but for New Zealand the rate is cut from 7.5 to 6.5 per cent.

Duke, Princess Wed

At Brazilian Ceremony

PEROPOLIS, Brazil, Oct. 15.—(P)—Prince Dom Duarte Nuno, Duke of Braganca, pretender to the nonexistent throne of Portugal, was married today to Princess Maria Francisca de Orleans e Braganca, 28, a direct descendant of the emperors who once ruled Brazil.

The cathedral chimes of Petropolis told of completion of the morning religious ceremony, the first royal wedding in the Western Hemisphere in 78 years. As such it stirred the persistent hopes of royalists for restorations of vanished kingdoms at several places in the world.

Bids To Be Opened On Road Projects

Improvements on the Atlanta-Marietta military access road to the Bell bomber plant will be included in five road projects to be opened to bidders here October 23, the State Highway Board announced yesterday.

One calls for a new overhead bridge at the Seaboard Air Line railroad tracks and .568 miles of surface-treated approaches.

The second improvement will be 1.758 miles of grading and surface treatment on the road, beginning about 900 feet north of the Chattahoochee river and extending towards Marietta.

Wives of Atlanta Doctors Assume Gigantic War Task

By SALLY FORTH.

WHILE THEIR HUSBANDS are the unsung heroes of many a battle on both the home and foreign fronts, wives of Atlanta doctors are not idle. In fact, they are fast becoming one of the war effort's most valuable assets.

You read recently, perhaps, of the formation of a Doctors' Aide Corps. There was a series of lectures planned. That was only the beginning, for these doctors' wives are really in earnest. You see, only the members of the Fulton County Medical Society's Auxiliary are eligible to become doctors' aides. And that membership is made up of the wives of Atlanta doctors.

Their program is a most ambitious one! Following the completion of the lectures, auxiliary members may choose one of the four specialized courses open to them, which include radio and speakers' bureau; health films; service groups which co-operate with the volunteer agencies in first aid, nutrition, home nursing and nurses' aides; and last but not least, the blood type registry.

Of course, the releasing of nurses for jobs that require expert skill and training is of vast importance at this time when battlefronts in eight different sections of the world and military camps in practically every state of the Union are drawing upon the quota of nurses available. The doctors' aides plan to train themselves adequately for this inestimable service so that Atlanta will not be forced to experience a shortage of nurses in time of emergency or disaster.

However, the most important service of all, according to Mrs. Edward H. Greene, capable president of the Fulton County Medical Auxiliary, is the proposed blood type registry. This is a gigantic task in itself, as you can readily see when you consider that it means the typing of the blood of every man, woman and child (above a certain age) in Atlanta and the complete registration of the results.

With Atlanta situated only 200 miles from the coast and in the strategic position as hub of the railway and highway traffic for the southeast, the city is faced with the possibility of attack by air at any time. In such an eventuality, the blood type registration of all its citizens would be of untold value, for it would be made available to doctors and hospitals at all hours. This service would also be of permanent aid to doctors in normal times, for it would mean the elimination of delay in case of accident or serious illness, and the consequent saving of many lives.

The plan calls for the establishment of a laboratory at the Academy of Medicine, where the blood types will be registered numerically, alphabetically, and sectionally. In addition, there will be a similar registration at each of the city's hospitals so that the service will be available to all doctors after the academy is closed for the day.

The actual supervision of the blood typing will be done under a board of managers, composed of the president of the Fulton County Medical Society, the advisory committee to the Medical Auxiliary, a special laboratory committee appointed by the Medical Society president, the chairman of the registry, and the president of the auxiliary. Dr. Major Fowler is the Medical Society president and he has appointed Dr. John Funke as chairman of the laboratory committee. Dr. Cliff Sauls heads the advisory committee to the auxiliary. Assisting Mrs. Greene, the auxiliary president, are Mrs. James N. Brawner, director of the Doctors' Aide Corps, and Mrs. Cliff Sauls, who is chairman of the blood type registry.

With such a capable and far-seeing personnel in charge of this phase of the program set forth by the Doctors' Aide Corps, the unqualified success of the venture is practically assured.

AFTER William T. Healey III attended the party given his cousin, Oliver M. Healey Jr., on his sixth birthday, by their grandmother, Mrs. William T. Healey, he asked her to give him a party on his sixth birthday. The auspicious date falls on October 20, when a small group of William's friends will be invited to attend a circus party.

Mrs. Healey is busy arranging the affair, and will let the children enjoy all the thrills that go with a circus on next Tuesday afternoon, when the circus is staged at the Highland avenue grounds.

William is just three weeks the junior of Oliver, who is the son of Cornelia and Oliver Healey. William's parents are Callie and William Healey. As you know, their fathers are brothers and their mothers are sisters.

The little boys are inseparable companions and attend E. Rivers school. Oliver is dark and handsome, and William is a good-looking red-headed boy, with fair complexion.

BETTY McDONOUGH, whose engagement to Lieutenant Thomas Haldane Brown was announced recently, was married last Friday at a ceremony performed at St. Mark's Episcopal church in San Antonio, Texas. Rev. Everett Jones officiated, and the marriage is revealed for the first time today.

October 9 was a "red-letter day" for Tom, because he received his wings and his commission at Kelly Field that morning and married the girl of his choice at sundown.

Betty, whose given name is Elizabeth Ann, wore an appropriate bridal ensemble of air-force blue trimmed with squirrel fur and worn with brown accessories and a shoulder spray

English Club Changes Meeting.

The meeting of the Atlanta English Club scheduled for Saturday at noon has been changed from Davison's tearoom to the Henry Grady hotel. The change was made to accommodate the large number of guests desirous of hearing Roosevelt Walker speak at this time. A fascinating speaker, Mr. Walker is a brother of Bishop John Moore Walker, who will also be present at the meeting.

of orchids. Her only attendant was Mary Davis, of Dallas, Texas, who obtained leave from the University of Texas, at Austin, to be the maid of honor.

Mary wore blue with brown accessories and a shoulder spray of yellow roses and tuberoses, and stood with Lieutenant J. Calvin, of Memphis, who was Tom's best man.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McDonough, of Atlanta, entertained at a dinner party at the Saint Anthony hotel. Tom has been made an instructor, and will be stationed temporarily at Kelly Field.

Miss Webster To Be Honored.

Many interesting parties are being planned honoring Miss Dorothy Webster and Paul Woodruff, whose engagement was recently announced. Mrs. W. R. Saye and her daughter, Mrs. Ben W. Williams, will be hostesses at a breakfast October 18 at the Candler hotel. Guests will include a few close friends of the engaged couple. The decorations will feature an appropriate patriotic theme, as Mr. Woodruff is in the Naval Reserve at Tech and expects active duty upon completion of training.

Other parties planned are the spinster dinner at which Mrs. James Stillwell will entertain on October 19, and the rehearsal party at which Mr. and Mrs. James B. Woodruff, parents of the groom, will entertain on October 20.

Slack-Morse Rehearsal Party

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newton, of Decatur, will entertain at a dinner party this evening at their home, complimenting Miss Eugenia Pratt Slack, lovely bride-elect, and her fiancé, Dr. Chester William Morse, of Brockton, Mass., and New York, preceding their wedding rehearsal at the Decatur Presbyterian church. The hosts will be assisted by Mrs. Robert Holt, Mrs. A. Reese Harvey, and their two daughters, Misses Jane Anne and Martha Reese Newton.

A pink and white motif will be carried out in the decorations. The guests will be the bride-elect, Dr. Morse, Mr. and Mrs. Seary B. Slack, Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Morse, of Brockton, Mass., and Mount Dora, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Diekmann, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mansfield, Mr. and Mrs. George Northen, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Candler, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Slack Jr., Misses Cannon and Elizabeth Slack, of Baltimore, Md.; and Mrs. Rafe Banks, of Gainesville, Fla.; and Rev. W. Samuel Slack, of Alexandria, La.; Mrs. Hazen Smith, of Durham, N. C.; Miss Faye Gray, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Mary Bon Uterback, of Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. Robert Williams, of Boston; Misses Margaret Hooker Patterson, of New Jersey; Miss Elizabeth Slack, of Baltimore; Harry Morse, of Hanover, N. H.; Dr. H. R. Slack, of LaGrange.

Mrs. Lewis Johnson and Mrs. Lawrence Mansfield were hostesses Wednesday evening at the home of the former in Decatur, honoring Miss Slack.

Miss Moore Becomes Bride Of Walter J. Thomas, U.S.N.

Announcement is made by Lieutenant and Mrs. G. Veston Moore, of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth Moore, to Walter Joseph Thomas.

The bride is the youngest daughter of her parents and is the sister of Mrs. Jasper Wiley Kaylor Jr., of this city. Her maternal grandparents are J. Wister Cason and the late Mrs. May Pauline Cason and she is a great-granddaughter of Judge Pat H. Owens, one of the first judges of Atlanta. Her paternal grandparents are Mrs. Rosa Lee Moore and the late J. H. W. Moore.

The bridegroom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Homer Thomas, and has one sister, Mrs. John E. Wise. His maternal grandparents are the late Captain William M. Logan, of Greenville, S. C., and the late Mrs. Paul Wilson, also of Greenville. His paternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. James T. Thomas, of Dalton.

The bride is an honor graduate of Fulton High school and is also a member of the National Honor Society. She is associated with the Health Department of the U. S. government.

Mr. Thomas is also a graduate of Fulton High school and held the rank of lieutenant colonel during his senior year. He was connected with Dun & Bradstreet before entering the service of the U. S. Navy. He was stationed at the Naval Air Base in Atlanta upon entering the service and was promoted from seaman to yeoman. He is now stationed at the U. S. Naval Armory, Indianapolis, Ind.

Wedding Plans Announced By Miss Silver and Dr. Hunter

The marriage of Miss Betty Jean Silver to Dr. Grover C. Hunter Jr. takes place today.

The ceremony will be performed by Dr. William V. Gardner at 12:30 o'clock at the Winship Chapel of the First Presbyterian church, and a musical program will be presented by Miss Ellen Moore, vocalist, and Dr. Charles Sheldon, organist.

The bride-elect, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Silver, will be given in marriage by her father, and Dr. Anderson Scruggs will be the best man for Dr. Silver.

Misses Jane Hunter, sister of the groom-elect, and Mildred Rutland will be the bridesmaids, and the ushers will be Dr. J. B. Jordan, and James Silver V, brother of the bride-elect.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Silver will entertain at a breakfast at their home on Maddox drive for the bridal couple, the guests to be limited to members of the wedding party, the two families and a limited number of friends.

Sorority Entertains.

The Delta Sigma Gamma sorority will entertain this afternoon at the Atlanta Athletic Club, honoring Mrs. Readie P. Ashurst and her visitor, Miss Sally Butler, of Indianapolis, Ind. Last Wednesday evening Mrs. A. Thomas Bradbury was hostess to members of the sorority at a dinner at her home on Northside drive.

Dates Are Out for the Duration For Hollywood Bachelors

By Harold Heffernan.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 8.—Behind movie headlines:

What few remaining bachelors in main along Hollywood's dimmed-out flitter front find it almost impossible to get a date these nights. In fact, the "new twosome" item has just about disappeared from the chatter columns. Players are embarrassed by being seen having a good time just for the sake of having a good time.

Night clubs are the big sufferers. Mocambo and Earl Carroll's are the only ones out of the red. Ciro's recent reopening at "popular prices" was a flat failure and lasted only 10 nights. Scarcely a film actress dates anyone other than service men. There's a tacit understanding among many of the young women, including Linda Darnell, Carole Landis, Martha O'Driscoll and Mary Beth Hughes, that they will go "stag" to all events given for service men.

Here's a tip-off on the help situation in glamortown: Louis B. Mayer, head pooh-bah at MGM, phoned Joan Crawford at home the other night to discuss a story change. "I'll call you back in an hour, L. B.," said Joan, "I'm right in the midst of doing my dinner dishes." Remember, Anna Sten, sensational European "find" who flopped so dismally for Sam Goldwyn years ago? Well, Anna came back to the news this week in a most peculiar manner. She knocked a 210-pound six-footed codd. Playing the wife of a Serbian Guerilla in "Chetniks," Anna was supposed to kick a big extra named Eric Mack on the shin-bone. She applied her boot so lustily that Mack fell over a chair, banged his head against a table-edge and had to be revived by a studio doctor.

Alexis Smith, Warners' towering starlet, won't ask for any more expert criticism from Director Irving Rapper—at least not out in public. Rapper had just come from seeing "The Adventures of Mark Twain," when Alexis encountered him lunching in the green room. "How was my death-bed scene?" she begged.

Use Plain Wheat as a Staple in Your Diet

Perhaps plain wheat may become a staple in the diet of many a lucky family.

Investigation of the question of the digestibility of wheat bran by the Home Economics Bureau of the U. S. Agriculture Department showed that when normal persons eat fine wheat bran a little less than one-half of the contained carbohydrate was digested and absorbed; when coarse bran was used, less than one-third of the protein and more than one-half of the carbohydrate in the bran was digested and absorbed.

Under Hindhede's observation two men lived on a diet of plain whole wheat bread and margarine for 261 days, except for a Christmas vacation of 22 days and a Whitsunday vacation of 15 days, during which vacations the men ate also vegetables, and period of 18 days during which they ate strawberries and milk. The wheat was coarsely ground at home and the bread was home baked—nothing removed from the plain wheat. The men worked part of the time in the laboratory, part of the time in the garden. Positive protein balance was maintained throughout the 261 days, digestion was good, and the men felt well and vigorous. When a similar experiment was tried with refined white bread instead of whole wheat bread, the men lost strength and energy rapidly, and suffered headaches, dizziness and other unpleasant symptoms. Hindhede attributed the difference largely to the high biologic value of the protein in the bran, which supplements the inferior protein of the kernel. He found that the bran portion of wheat is digested as thoroughly and completely by man as it is by domestic animals.

On request I'll mail to any one who provides a three-cent stamped envelope bearing his address a pamphlet "Wheat To Eat" which tells how to use plain wheat in the daily dietary.

I do not advise invalids to eat plain wheat, unless by and with consent of their own physicians. But I urge well folks everywhere to keep a supply of plain wheat in the house and use it as a staple in the everyday diet. It may be eaten both raw and cooked. If enough of it is consumed daily, in place of refined wheat products, it will prevent or cure many common ailments for which people take far too much medicine for the good of their health.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Pernicious Nausea.
I am the mother of three children and have suffered with "pernicious nausea" with each pregnancy—not merely "morning sickness." I mean vomiting for four or five months and great loss of weight in consequence. (Mrs. R. K. E.)

Answer—In some cases optimal daily rations of vitamin B may prevent or relieve excessive nausea and vomiting. Alleviation of the ordinary "morning nausea"—which many expectant mothers never suffer at all—is achieved by eating some candy, sweets or sweet fruit (orange, banana, grapes, raisins, figs, etc.) late at night and early in the morning on first waking. Send ten cents and stamped envelope bearing your address, for booklet "Preparing for Maternity."

Tough on Mucous Membranes.
The melancholy days are come, the saddest of the year, of stuffy nose and raspy throat and mucous membranes sear . . . not so much worry about fuel, but we begin to understand now that your teachings are much more to the point than we ever realized before. (H. W. A.)

Answer—Return of the season of indoor heating means return to the desert, extreme dryness of the air, for most people, and this is accountable for much mucous membrane and skin trouble thru the winter. Send stamped self-addressed envelope for pamphlet on "Humidification." A couple buckets of water evaporated in the air daily will make all the difference in the world in the indoor climate.

"Was I really good?" Cried Rapper, for all ears to hear: "Good! You were even better dead than alive!"

Hollywood correspondents are holding a meeting to see if something can't be done about Bud Abbott and Lou Costello. The zannie team sent each of them a live turkey, to be fattened up on A. & C. corn for Thanksgiving dinner. One writer was ejected from his apartment for trying to bring up the bird in the living room. . . . Betty Hutton, dynamic successor to Martha Raye on the screen, is swinging into the dramatic with her forthcoming "Miracle of Morgan's Creek." She will introduce no hit tunes and will sing only once, and that briefly, as a song plugger at a five-and-dime store. . . . Ina Hutton, no relation, vaudeville headliner as a feminine band leader, is being tested for a contract at Paramount.

A sympathetic eye is tossed in the direction of Lois Andrews at Twentieth Century-Fox. Facing a camera for the first time in her 18 years, playing the title role of "Dixie Dugan," the ex-Mrs. Jessel has been tossed in with such amateurs as Charlie Ruggles, Eddie Foy Jr., Charlotte Greenwood, and Raymond Walburn—scene stealers, all. Even Ann Todd, nine years old, who plays the old sister role, is a veteran of 50-odd pictures.

Gail Patrick is still the most regal-looking girl in Hollywood. She is also the town's never-never girl. She came out as a beauty contest winner, but she's never posed for leg art. She dresses exotically in films, but off screen she seldom wears anything but slacks and knockabout attire. She knows how to be theatrical as the beautiful "other woman," but she has never appeared on any stage. . . . Alice Faye will sing 10 songs in "Hello, Frisco, Hello"—A sort of catching-up scheme for her 18-month retirement. She's nearly 10 pounds lighter than when she left to have her baby. One of the songs is "The Brewer's Big Horses Can't run Over Me."

POINTS FOR PARENTS

By Edythe Thomas Wallace

Mother: "I must have been saying 'don't' too often if you think there's nothing you're allowed to do. Let's see what we can find that you can do."

Son: "Gee—a guy can't do anything around here!"

Mother: "Don't you talk that way to me and don't stand there with that scowl on your face!"

Children's response depends largely upon the reasonableness or the fault-findingness of the adult's attitude.

Your Horoscope for Today

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS, Noted Atlanta Astrologist.

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21, April 19 (ARIES)—The entire day and until 9:30 p. m. favors ordinary and routine matters. This is especially true in connection with communications, correspondence and conferences. After 7:30 p. m. favors social and entertainment fields.

LIEUTENANT AND MRS. DON EARL CARTER.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Carter were married recently at a quiet ceremony taking place at Red Bank, N. J., where the groom is stationed with the U. S. Army Signal Corps. The bride is the former Miss Carolyn McKenzie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Beverly McKenzie, of Ashburn, Ga. She was formerly a member of the editorial and photographic staffs of The Atlanta Constitution. Lieutenant Carter is the son of W. A. Carter, of Plains, Ga., and served as farm editor of the Atlanta Journal before entering the service.

MY DAY: Problem of Care For Chinese Children

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday.—I went up to New York City on Monday afternoon to attend a meeting and to see one or two people. My evening was a joy because Martha Gellhorn Hemingway, just returned from the Caribbean, was in New York City and came to dinner with me.

She was full of vivid impressions and interesting, as always, about what she had seen. The pleasure of seeing a friend whom you love after a long separation is particularly satisfactory now, when all of life seems precarious and the urgency for moments of happiness greater than ever.

Yesterday morning I took the 9 o'clock train to Saybrook, Conn., where Miss Esther Lape met me. As in all small places, news travels fast and I was given a very warm welcome by a gentleman at the station. When Miss Lape brought me back in the afternoon to take the train which goes straight through to Washington, she evidently knew where I was going and on what train.

It is always a joy to see Miss Lape and Miss Read. In addition, the country in beautiful autumn colors was alluring. The air was soft and the gentle breeze seemed to whisper, "Stay with me now, for soon I shall forget my gentleness and bring you boisterous winter winds."

The China Aid Council, which has joined with the American Committee for Chinese War Orphans, has just sent me a little booklet about the children of China. Long years of war mean thousands of war orphans and child refugees. The cost of living has gone up very much in China. Even though they are under Madame Chiang's protection and in schools organized by Madame Sun Yat Sen, her sister, it is difficult to raise enough money for decent shelter, food and clothing. In many places, we are being asked to go without meat two days a week. The children of China go without it for days on end.

The first effort is to make these children healthy for the future. Many of them will have to undergo long periods of medical treatment and will have to build up with nutritious food. Their education is not neglected, so they ought to become good citizens of the world of the future, if we are able to help in their present support. One particularly difficult problem is the children of the northwest guerrilla territories, where constant warfare goes on.

Scrap Contest Winners Just Put on the Steam

AURORA, Mo.—(AP)—The Rotary and Lions clubs were in a contest to decide which could collect the greatest amount of scrap.

Things were running bedstead-for-bedstead until the Lions heard about an old steam engine at Miller, 28 miles away. They bought the thing, hauled over a ton of coal and a tank of water, fire up and trundled her right into Aurora.

That left the Rotarians 20,000 pounds behind for the day.

Vegetables Test The Ability Of a Cook

By Ida Jean Kain.

If you think you're a good cook, just ask yourself whether your family likes vegetables. If not, the reason could be you don't know how to cook them properly! That quiz is in keeping with the findings of Dr. Theodore F. Zuckerman, Columbia University, whose research on nutrition is of special interest to the homemaker faced with meatless days.

It is Dr. Zuckerman's opinion that the cooking and selection of vegetables are the main things. The family must like a food before they will eat it. Also, it must be purchased with an eye to the vitamin value, and cooked so as not to lose these essentials.

"But," Dr. Zuckerman told me, "if soy beans, cottonseed and peanuts are skillfully used, they can be made not only to replace the protein in meat, but also the B vitamins in vegetables." These B vitamins are the ones in which most diets are lacking.

For a number of years, Chinese children have been getting along very well on a diet consisting mainly of curdled soy bean milk. "That," the eminent scientist observes, "is something you have to learn to like. But all of us are going to learn to like a lot of things before this war is over."

In a paper before the American Chemical Society, Dr. Zuckerman suggested the use of meat and flour made from soy beans, cottonseed and peanuts to offset any possible protein shortage that might be created by the shipment of huge quantities of meat to our allies.

Laboratory experiments with mice placed on diets of the three different seeds have proved the seeds to be an exceptionally rich source of good quality protein, with a B vitamin content comparing favorably with that of the green vegetables.

Our food industries never lag very far behind science. You can buy cottonseed flour for as little as 5 cents per pound. Peanut flour is so much in demand by our military forces that there is no wide distribution among civilians, but it is hoped the supplies will be increased. In the meantime, we can get peanut butter, soy bean flour and cottonseed flour.

Rickey Slated To Join Browns Writer Insists

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The Post-Dispatch predicted today that Branch Rickey, vice president and general manager of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, would become a top executive of the St. Louis Browns of the American League.

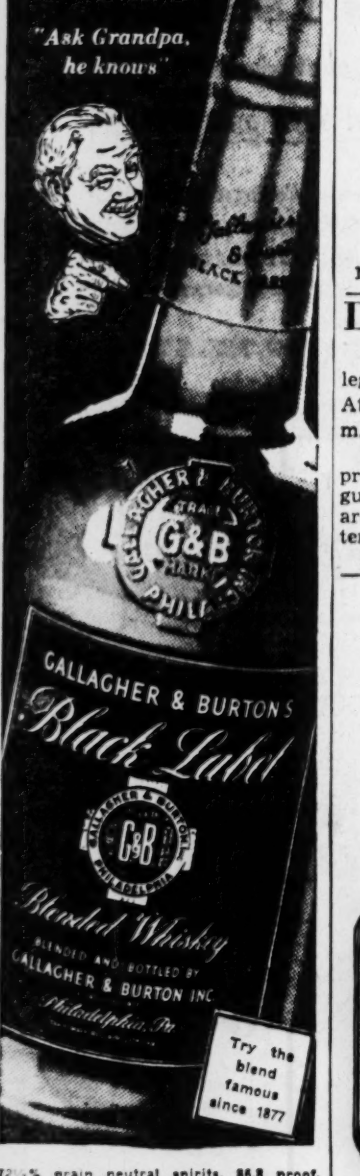

Ever since it became known that Rickey, father of the Cardinals' famous farm system, would sever connections with the National League Club at the expiration of his contract this year, the baseball world has been speculating on his next job. Many of the experts figured he would join up with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

While Rickey remains silent on the subject, J. Roy Stockton, the Post-Dispatch baseball expert, says all the straws bend one way. "If you take all the straws in the wind, add them to the grapevine and stray bits of evidence," Stockton says, "it's easy to conclude that come 1943, the Browns' organization will include the man who helped Sam Breadon build pennants and world champions for the Cardinals."

All in the Game

By JACK TROY

Doubts Prowess J. A. C. is a soldier from the middle west. He has, according to his letter, been stationed in Atlanta for the past few months, and he quickly takes up where we left off about the probability of the 12 teams of the Southeastern Conference being a match for the top 12 from any other section.

(It was suggested that the Southeastern Conference would win eight out of 12 such engagements, since obviously the balance of power in football has swung south.)

J. A. C. says: "I don't blame you for boosting your own section—we all do it. But, Mr. Troy—BUT—even if the southern football teams ARE the best in the nation they certainly are never going to get any credit for it anywhere else until THEY PLAY SOMEBODY. By that, I mean an outstanding team from another section. I admit they play everyone down here. (Name another one than Tech-N. D. Omit Vandy-Purdue, or include it, if you want to.)

"I agree that southern football is as good as any as far as the top few teams are concerned . . . but when you make a crack, as in this morning's paper, about the 12 Southeastern Conference teams playing ANY 12 anywhere else—Mr. Troy, are you kidding? Let's forget Mr. Williamson, who evidently has never seen a football game, and go to work. Let's take, for example, the midwest, my own section. This year I pick 'em this way—

"MINNESOTA. (Yes, Minnesota. They pushed the Seahawks around and fumbled in scoring what would have been the winning touchdown. Illinois surprised them. But still—MINNESOTA.)

"MICHIGAN.

"OHIO STATE.

"WISCONSIN.

"ILLINOIS.

"NORTHWESTERN (Texas was the best until Northwestern 3, Texas 0).

"NOTRE DAME (on last season's record, not this season).

"INDIANA (Hillenbrand).

"PURDUE.

"IOWA.

"MARQUETTE.

"MICHIGAN STATE.

"There're my 12. Want to play? Alabama, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Tennessee? And eight more? I'll concede Marquette, Michigan State, Iowa and Purdue not being so powerful this year, although they'll turn in their share of upsets. But they're certainly as good as the last four in the south. And what's more, they play someone. Furman? Chattanooga? Dayton? (When will Tennessee get into the big leagues for more than half her games?) Do you see anything like that on a Big Ten card?

"I wish, Mr. Troy, I wish someone would match these teams at the end of the season, say for Army and Navy relief. One side or the other would then have to stop talking."

They're Bowl Shy Southeastern Conference teams have knocked off Notre Dame, Southern California, Rice, Fordham, Texas Aggies, Purdue, etc.

We can't excuse Notre Dame and take them on their last year's record. They shellacked Stanford last Saturday, tied Wisconsin. That makes Tech look pretty good, eh?

'Tis a pity, indeed, that middle western teams are bowl shy. Thus they maintain their records.

Southern teams would be willing. They are to be found in every bowl every year. And when the records are averaged, it will be found that the south reigns supreme over the years.

Midwestern teams have no way of claiming greatness . . . except that they play each other! How does that prove how they stand in comparison with another section?

And when they stray as Purdue has for the last two years—taking on Vandy—one gets a fair idea. Two defeats. The south has more than one Hillenbrand.

Supplying Man Power Judge William G. Braham's minor league report is fraught with interesting facts. As to contributions in man power, the minors' head man notes—

"To date of publication of this report, 1,224 players have reported as joining the armed forces of the government. A total of 692 has gone into factories and engaged in defense work. The names of these players have been promulgated from time to time in our official bulletins. There are a great many players absent from their clubs without any explanation, many of whom are, without doubt, in the armed forces or defense work, but who have not reported the fact, so they could be removed from suspended or ineligible lists and placed on either our national defense service list or voluntarily retired list and be counted in the total."

Buying, selling and trading continues in majors and minors, with an eye to playing baseball, as usual, in 1943.

Bulldogs End Rough Work For Wave

'Up to Boys Now,' Asserts Coach Butts

Georgia Mentor Praises Play of Maguire and Keuper.

By F. M. WILLIAMS. ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 15.—Georgia's razor-sharp Bulldogs settled down to a 48-hour wait today before squaring off Saturday afternoon in what everyone in this college town believes will be the toughest football game of the season—against Tulane.

Coach Wallace Butts ended practice sessions, except for a brief limbering-up drill tomorrow, with a lengthy workout in light togs, stressing again pass defense.

There is every indication that the game might develop into a battle of the air, for Georgia has been one of the "passingest" teams in the country so far. Coach Butts himself predicts a wide-open battle.

"There isn't anything else the coaches can do now," he murmured as he strolled off the practice field. "It's strictly in the boys' hands from here on out."

LAUDS MAGUIRE.

The Bulldog mentor expressed satisfaction over the defensive play of Walter Maguire, youthful Athens blocking back, who has been sharing that position with Red Keuper in past games. He also put in a good word for Keuper, too.

"Maguire has forced himself to the limit and as a result he has developed into about the best defensive halfback we have," Coach Butts said. "Keuper has come around better at blocking back than we thought he would after shifting him from fullback."

Maguire will get plenty of service if Tulane does the expected and takes to the air. He didn't have a pass completed in his territory this afternoon and he intercepted a number.

Coach Butts said he would start his usual line-up with either Jim Lee or Harry Kuniaksky at left guard. Kuniaksky is still bothered by a "charley horse" but if he is able to go at all Saturday, then he'll probably start.

OTHER POSITIONS.

Other positions are sure. George Poschner and Van Davis will man the ends with Gene Ellenson and Garland Williams at tackles. Alternate Captain Walter Ruark will be at right guard and Bill Godwin, center. Captain Frankie Sinkwich will play the left half-back position and Lamar Davis will start at wingback. Dick McPherson is the fullback on this club.

Either Keuper or Maguire will start at blocking back, everything depending on whether Georgia kicks off or receives. If the Bulldogs start out on defense, then Maguire will start. Otherwise it will be Keuper.

The game starts at 3 o'clock and a crowd upwards of 15,000 is expected to attend.

Ticket booths will open at 9 o'clock at Memorial Hall to take care of those who haven't bought in advance. Coach Butts announced. There are plenty of good seats left.

Haas Scores 4 Times As Purples Win, 32-6

By CHARLIE ROBERTS.

Last night Bounding Billy Haas displayed the greatest job of continuous running since Benito Mussolini's invincibles pulled their great advance to the rear in front of the pursuing Greeks. The result was the new Darling of the Boys' High campus sparked the Purple Hurricane to its fifth straight G. I. A. victory of the year and Haas took over the undisputed scoring lead in the association with a total of 60 points thus far this season.

At the end of the Leon park scoreboard read Boys' High 32; G. M. A. 6, but had the scampering William Haas "stood in bed" the score might well have been 6 to 6. For young Bill reeled off four touchdowns run of 54, 58, 10 and 72 yards and that was just about all the difference there was in the two teams for the night.

A QUICK LEAD.

Haas went roaring away on his 54-yard scamper to pay dirt early in the first period and Boys' High made it 14 to 0 just before the quarter ended when Bobby Chastain dropped back to G. M. A.'s 40-yard line and fired a beautiful aerial which Scott Reynolds took on the 5 and raced over the double stripes. Buck Miller added the extra point after each score.

A rout seemed in prospect but Coach Doc McKay's Cadets roared back in the second period, scored a touchdown and completely outplayed the heavily favored Purples. Little Bill Robinson halted a Purple drive by intercepting Ralph Ewing's pass at the Cadet 35 and romping 22 yards to the Purple 36 with it. Robinson promptly passed to Culler for 14 yards and on the next play flipped another to Culler, who lateraled to J. K. Harrell, who dashed over the goal line untouched for the finest single play seen here all year.

The Cadets were put out of the ball game in the third period when Haas, running from his favorite spin play, dashed to two more scores. His 72-yard masterpiece of broken field running, however, was saved for the final stanza.

BRUISING GAME.

The game itself was a bruising affair which found the G. M. A. running game completely stymied MOOSE ON LOOSE—Moose Porter battered lines as a fullback at G. M. A. two years ago. Now he's a sophomore sensation at end for Tulane's Green Wave and will carry this fighting face into Athens against Georgia Saturday.

Wave Eleven Leaves for Georgia Tilt

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 15.—(AP) Amid a wartime quiet in striking contrast to previous occasions, 32 Tulane football players left tonight for Athens, Ga., to meet the unbeaten University of Georgia Bulldogs and All-America Frankie Sinkwich Saturday.

The railroad could allot only 36 berths for the 32 gridders, which meant that in six instances two of the players, all of whom appeared all bull and a yard wide, would have to bunk together. They'll ride the daycoaches coming back.

Lou Thomas, ace halfback who might have given Sinkwich a bit of competition, said his foot that was injured in practice Tuesday felt "all right," but Coach Little Monk Simons said Lou would probably not be able to start.

Simons indicated Sophomore Ed Fischer, who gained 60 yards in 10 cracks at the Rice Owls last Saturday, would open up at left half with Thomas going in as a spot player. Lou didn't get in any work Wednesday or today.

Hyman Friedberg's Bolo Tie took the lead at the start of Hawthorne's La Grange purse and toured the six furlongs in 1:14 1-5 for a length victory.

by the powerful Hurricane fore-wall, and the Purples, except for Haas, were bottled almost as effectively. Big Moose Stanton, Purple guard, crashed into the Cadet backfield to halt plays with regularity. Tackle Clifford Griffin also was a standout, and the end play of Jingle Joe Floyd, Leon Bridges and James Castleberry, brother of Georgia Tech's Clint, was tops. Elbert Bradley and Gordon Hunt also were in on numerous tackles.

Robinson, Culler and huge Ed Mackey were G. M. A. backfielders who stood out, but for all-round performance the nod went to Sonny Kivren, a real hustler. Hank Powell, Buddy Wilkins, Hank Dixon, and Ed Lennox were the stalwarts in a Cadet line which would not budge an inch.

Only Mackey's and Robinson's passes bothered the Purples, and only Haas bothered G. M. A., but that was bother plenty for both teams.

Peanut-Picking Pays Big Dividends to Team
FITZGERALD, Ga., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Presason "practice" as a harvest labor battalion is paying big dividends for the Fitzgerald High school football team. The squad, which hardened its muscles shaking peanuts and picking cotton, has won its first three games, scoring 11 touchdowns, and has yet to have its goal line crossed.

Speaking of Masterpieces...

1—Liked a lot! When we put IMPERIAL into the picture, experts agreed we had a masterpiece—a whiskey with an aroma, a smoothness, a flavor that put it in a class of one. And predictions were that we had the makings of a winner!

2—Liked by more! And predictions were right! When we decided to really show off IMPERIAL, folks "crowded round"—sales zoomed. For instance, in one big test-state it hopped ahead of 332 long-established whiskeys to reach first place—and has stayed there ever since!

3—Liked by millions! Taste IMPERIAL—and see why this grand whiskey is drawing the big crowd! Taste why it's America's fastest-growing whiskey. Ask for it at your bar—or take home a tryout bottle. Taste why it's getting the cheers!

Tech High Battles Lanier in Macon Tonight

Typists Meet Marist Eleven At Poncey Park

Decatur Plays N. Fulton, Richardson Clashes With Russell.

By CHARLIE ROBERTS.
Tech High and Lanier, the only two elevens in the state with much of a chance to steal the choicest fruit off Boys' High's private apple cart this year, battle tonight in Macon in one of the most important G. I. A. A. grid games of the season.

Coach Allen Shi's Smithies, victors in two straight Association games, and the Macon Poets, triumphant in three league games while losing one, are Boys' High's next two opponents here and they are the only G. I. A. A. teams of any consequence left in the Purple path to a fourth straight state championship. Both elevens will go out tonight, for another defeat for either team will erase it from the championship picture.

The highly touted Smithies got off to a dismal start by losing in unimpressive fashion to Marist and then taking it on the chin in Asheville from a potent Robert E. Lee High outfit. Since then the Smithies have come to life and really looked like a check from home as they poured it into Commercial and G. M. A. after trying a really strong, Gadsden High eleven. Improved running of Harvey Prater, Grady Boles, George Vlass and other backs and great defensive play by Ends Ray Chaney and Jack Greer have highlighted the Smithies about face. They must be given an outside chance of upsetting the alert Poets, who still are tumbling over themselves away from the powerful Savannah High, 6 to 0.

While the Smithies are striving to stay in the title picture at Macon, Marist and Commercial will battle in the Atlanta feature game of the night. Ponce de Leon park is the place and 8 o'clock the starting time. The Typists still are after their first victory, and beating the Cadets, winners over Tech High, should be a little more than they can hope for.

Another good game on the local card will flare forth on North Fulton's Dykes' Field, where the homelings will be pitted against Decatur and the passing wizardry of Allen Shelton. These two teams again are among the best in the N. G. I. C. and an even, closely contested fray is anticipated.

Richardson and Russell vie on the later's field in an old neighborhood feud which should find the Wildcats taking another step towards their second straight N. G. I. C. championship.

West Fulton, fresh from an upset triumph over Commercial, will drive up to Marietta for their Friday night clash. Fulton High has an off night.

1,800 Vol Fans To Watch Game

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 15. (AP)—Some 1,800 Tennessee supporters will be in the stands Saturday at Birmingham when the Volunteers engage Alabama in a top southern football clash. Tickets booked at the University of Tennessee athletic office promise at least that many Tennessee followers—despite travel problems and tire wear. At least 250 university students will make the trip.

Davidson To Throw Passing Twins at Tech

George and Tommy Peters Form Dangerous Combination; Jackets Polish Own Aerials.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY.
Those 12,000 fans who watched Chattanooga flood Grant field with passes last Saturday may not have seen anything at all. Davidson, Tech's opponent Saturday, promises to do the Moccasins one better in the aerial department.

All of which doesn't make Georgia Tech's fans very angry. The Yellow Jacket pass defense was the main weakness of the 1941 team and it hasn't been tested too severely this year—either by Auburn on a wet field or by Notre Dame's Angelo Bertelli, who had trouble finding his receivers the day the two clubs met.

This year there are a couple of sophomores and a freshman playing leading roles in the Tech backfield. Therefore, the more passes thrown at them by the smaller schools the better because they are sure to need the experience before tackling the tough last half of their schedule.

TECH THREAT.
The Jackets are plenty capable of matching any Davidson air threat with one of their own, as spectators at yesterday's practice session will testify. Tech's defense is expecting the Wildcats to take to the air as most of the semi-final practice was devoted to the passing game, both on offense and defense.

Head Coach Bill Alexander missed the workout for the second straight day because of illness. However, he had shown rapid improvement and probably will be able to direct his club from the bench Saturday. It is unlikely, however, that he will be out for the last workout today, which makes little difference because it will consist of little more than signal drill.

Davidson is all set to throw a twin-brother aerial act at the Jackets. George Peters is a tailback and excels in shooting passes down the field to his twin brother, Tommy, a six-foot, three-inch end who learned how to snag 'em by playing a great game of basketball.

OTHER PASSERS.
But the twins don't have things entirely to themselves. Gene McEver has several other potent tossers and catchers on his eleven and scouts report they are all dangerous. Mac Bruce, Ben Washburn and Art Roach do a lot of passing and Dick O'Hair and Pat Williams handle the receiving from the end positions when Tommy Peters isn't in the lineup.

Although Davidson lost to V. M. I. 0-16, last week, the 'Cats allowed only one touchdown to be scored by the enemy, which built up his total with a pair of safeties and two field goals. This tough defense may well force the Yellow Jackets to the air with Clint Crutleberry and Eddie Prokop doing most of the pitching.

'Bugs' Baer Says:
I guess the Germans in Russia rate about the same batting percentage as Napoleon in 1812: "The hands of the grand army have met and clasped the air."

I've been wondering when the Russian winter starts and so I looked it up for you. Napoleon rode into Moscow on September 15.

He stayed a little over a month and then marched south toward Kaluga to grab fodder and stores. He got a shellacking at Maloyaroslavetz and the famous retreat started the next day, October 25.

On November 25, Napoleon, on foot and leaning on a birch crutch to keep his footing, watched his engineers throw a wooden bridge across the slimy, frozen Beresina.

So you can put the Russian winter down for next week.

Capitol Gun Club Shoot Starts Today

Gordon Hight Trophy Awaits Winner in Big Tourney.

By JOHN MARTIN.
The gunpatriots of Gordon Hight will pay tribute to this mighty Roman of the traps today in the opening rounds of the 12th annual Fall Festival Trapshooting Tournament at the Capitol Gun Club. The dedication shoot will begin popping shortly after 11 o'clock this morning in the Class Championship.

Scatter-gunners from Tennessee, Florida and South Carolina will take the stands with the usual representative entry from Atlanta and Georgia.

Jack Tway, president of the Gun Club, indicated yesterday that this would be one of the few, if not the last, shoot of any size here for the duration.

Amateur Trapshooting Association rules will govern the shoot, which includes four championship events. Following the Class C championship, a 16-yard 200-target race, will be the Doubles, constituting 50 pairs.

The Singles and the Handicap championships will be fired Saturday.

Trophies will be awarded winners and runners-up in each championship. The Gordon L. Hight trophy will go to big gun in the Class, Singles and Handicap championships—totaling 500 targets.

Auburn Works Out Here

Spectators at Georgia Tech's football practice yesterday were bewildered at the size of the Yellow Jacket squad for a while—until someone told them those boys on the lower field were Auburn Tigers and not Yellow Jackets.

Coach Jack Meagher sent his boys through a lengthy workout on the lower end of Rose Bowl field while the Techs were going through their paces on the other end. The Auburn team is headed north for a game with undefeated Georgetown University Saturday night in the nation's capital.

Meagher was his usual optimistic self as his boys worked on passing and pass defense. He said he had a good team and expected it to play "a good game against the Hoyas."

The Tigers left last night and were scheduled to arrive in Washington shortly after noon today.—JOHNNY BRADBERRY.

Riverside Plays Baylor Today

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Oct. 15.—War-time transportation problems have altered the earlier announced meeting of Riverside Military Academy and the Baylor School, of Chattanooga, pushing up the grid tilt of these prep contenders to Friday, at 3 p. m.

The 1941 encounter of these two Mid-South Association teams was won by the Tennesseans, 38-13, and the Riverside Cadets are working hard under Coach Alva (Kid) Clay to score a revenge win tomorrow.

The Riversiders will be handicapped by inexperience. They have played only one game, a 24-0 win over Canton (Ga.) High two weeks ago.

340-Pound Terror Battles 310-Lb. Morgan Tonight

If the ring tumbles down and homes for blocks away are shattered it will be because the Golden Terror, weighing 340-pounds in his stocking feet, is colliding with Ben Morgan, a mere 310-pounder, on the mat at the auditorium tonight.

The battle of the giants was a long time coming but tonight is the night. Weeks ago some fans could see the huge figure of Morgan as a powerful threat to the Terror's reign. The Terror has won 63 matches and has never been defeated. Morgan, fast, powerful and tough, has won all eight say made a great hit here last week.

RICH'S STORE FOR MEN

Both Men, Tools In Solomons, Nimitz Asserts

Pacific Fleet Leader Sees Tough Going Ahead.

By WALTER CLAUSEN.

ABOARD A FIGHTING SHIP, PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The conviction that "even the Jap will agree that we have both the men and the tools for the task" in the Solomon Islands was voiced today by the Pacific fleet's commander, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz. He recently returned from an inspection of that southwest Pacific area.

The admiral's statement was made in connection with the presentation of 34 awards to heroes of action from the Coral Sea to the Solomons.

Confidence for future. While expressing confidence for the future, the supreme commander in the mid-Pacific area, cautioned the going will be tough and "tougher as we go forward."

"I need not remind you who have been in battle and who must return to it that our tasks are tremendous," said Admiral Nimitz. "It will go tougher as we go forward. The end is not yet in sight."

"I have just returned from the territory won by our Marines in the Solomons. I visited them at their forward positions on Guadalcanal from which, with their traditional enterprise and courage, they are effectively meeting every force that the enemy has hurled at them."

"The Japs are continuing an ever intensified pressure with the view to recapture Guadalcanal, first territory that has been taken from them in this war."

Tool, Men for Task. "Let me commend to you the splendid motto of the leader of the Marines in the Solomons, Major General Alexander A. Vandegrift, who just after the initial assault told his men, 'God favors the bold and strong of heart.'"

"Initially there may have been some question as to the skill and aptitude of our men for jungle warfare and the suitability of their equipment for the job in hand. Now, I am sure, even the Jap will agree that we have both the men and the tools for the task."

"Our effort in the south Pacific must be constantly expanded in men, bases and materials as we go forward. Success in the great venture upon which we have embarked depends on the production and supply of necessary materials. We rely on the workers at home to keep up and increase the flow of these vital implements of war."

Our men in the field and in the air and on the sea will know how to use them when they are put in their hands.

Subs, Planes Praised. "Remember that the enemy also is fighting in areas far from his sources of supply. The major factor in driving the Jap out of the islands under his temporary control will be the severance of his lines of supply."

"Our submarines and planes are operating heavily toward this end. Army, Navy and Marine Corps aircraft operating in close co-ordination will again have the responsibility of striking the first blows at the enemy's major concentrations. In addition, these cruisers and destroyers have already struck punishing blows at the enemy and will strike heavier ones as the opportunity offers."

Principal Explains Jap-Made Prizes

Don't be alarmed, folks, if your children came home yesterday from the annual carnival at R. L. Hope school bearing toys and gadgets marked "made in Japan."

Mrs. Irene C. Paschal, principal of the school, explained the Jap-made goods had been purchased long before Pearl Harbor, and some of it was even left over from past carnivals.

When the prizes were assembled for yesterday's event—to raise money for playground equipment—Mrs. Paschal said she figured the sensible thing would be to use the articles, instead of spending money to purchase others.

Department Store Sales Up Sharply

Department store sales in the Atlanta Federal Reserve District during the week ending October 10 were up 39 per cent over the same period a year ago, the Federal Reserve Board reported at Washington yesterday.

For the nation, the sales were up 25 per cent over the corresponding period of last year, the board stated further.

Seasonal and anticipatory buying, effects of the growing national income and the sales decline of October, 1941, when the new excise tax went into effect, were cited by officials as possible causes of the increase, which varied from 13 per cent in the St. Louis district to the 39 per cent increase in the Atlanta and Kansas City districts.

Navy's Blimp Patrol Is To Increase to 151

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Expansion of the Navy's blimp patrol from 23 to 151 to fight the submarine menace was revealed today to the senate.

Rear Admiral R. E. Davison, testifying before a senate appropriations subcommittee on the $5,600,000 second supplemental national defense money bill, asserted the Navy was going ahead with its blimp construction, with 128 now on order.

Civilians Stole Bataan Food, Nurse Reveals

Supplies Destined For Soldiers 'Hi-Jacked,' Captain Reports.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 15.—(AP)—A captain in the Army Nurse Corps, who worked through the entire campaign in the Philippines, told today how trucks bearing food supplies to the beleaguered heroes of Bataan were "hi-jacked" by civilians who had fled to Bataan from Manila.

"About 5,000 of civilians went from Manila to Bataan," declared Captain Florence MacDonald, of Fort Devens, Mass., in an address before the American Hospital Association's war conference, "and the Army had to feed them."

"But many of them weren't satisfied with what they got, and sometimes trucks bearing food to the Bataan front were hi-jacked and some food taken from them."

There were times when the boys at the front had only a few cans of salmon and a little rice."

Her voice breaking at times, the gray-haired, bespectacled nurse told how, in the early days of the Jap attack on the Philippines, "nurses worked with the wounded in operating rooms with tears streaming down their cheeks, but they never broke completely down."

"Sometimes," she said, "one of them would turn to me in the operating room and say: 'Please, Miss Mac—wipe my tears.'"

She said that during the blackouts, the darkness was so complete in the hospitals "that you couldn't tell what color your patient was even in the dim light of partly-covered flashlights and when you'd take a patient's pulse, you couldn't see your watch to count it and you'd have to estimate the rate."

Dramatically implementing the talks of other conference speakers, who told of the growing demands for nurses with the armed forces, Captain MacDonald said:

"If there are any nurses here without home ties I urge you to help those boys—the bravest in the world. As I did—they seldom groan or complain, but only say: 'Miss Mac, may I please have a glass of water—money wouldn't mean anything to you. Just have a little charity in your hearts for those boys.'"

Russians Want Hess Tried and Punished Now

Soviets Demand Action on All Ringleaders in Allied Hands.

MOSCOW, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The Soviet government came out bluntly today for immediate action against the "ringleaders" who, it charged, "with the aid of the severity of criminal law" of any German ringleader already imprisoned by the Allies, and specifically named Rudolf Hess, a captive in Britain, as one of the organizers of the "Hitler, Goering, Hess, Himmler, Ribbentrop and Rosenberg," as "organizers of German atrocities."

Molotov expressed agreement with President Roosevelt's speech of October 12 regarding trial and punishment of the "clique of leaders and their cruel accomplices" responsible for acts of brutality.

Molotov concluded by saying the Soviet government "considers it timely to reaffirm the conviction expressed in its official declarations to the effect that the Hitlerite government which recognizes only brute force must be broken by the crushing force of freedom-loving peoples."

The Molotov note went to the governments of Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Norway, Greece, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg and to the French national committee.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The British government gave little encouragement tonight to a Russian proposal that Nazi leaders, such as Rudolf Hess, who fall into Allied hands during the war be tried immediately for war crimes.

A foreign office press officer pointed out that Hess reached England a month before Germany attacked Russia.

Ammunition Output Cut To Quotas, Hardy Reveals

By KEELER MCARTNEY.

Production of military ammunition has reached a point where the Ordnance Department has requested some plants to hold down their outputs to a monthly quota system, Brigadier General Rossell E. Hardy, chief of the Ordnance Department's ammunition branch, said here last night.

City's Leaders Visit Saginaw Bullet Factory

Factory Tour Opens Eyes of Atlanta's Dignitaries.

By FRANK DRAKE.

If Adolf Hitler had dropped a bomb on the Atlanta plant of the Saginaw steering gear division of the General Motors Corporation yesterday afternoon, he'd have wiped out almost completely the steering gear of Atlanta business and industry.

Virtually every leader in business, commerce, industry, trade or whatever you call it, was out there for a tour of the plant that used to turn out cars and now is manufacturing a r m o r - piercing bullets faster than you can count without being accused of spying.

Governmental officials, educational officials, utilities officials, draft board officials, Chamber of Commerce members—it was the "Four Hundred" of life as it is lived in Atlanta out there for the inspection trip.

They were later entertained at a reception and dinner at the Piedmont Driving Club, where they heard talks by Brigadier General R. E. Hardy, chief of the ammunition division in Washington, and Henry Grady Weaver, Georgia-born General Motors official.

It might have been a good thing, too, if Hitler had come along on the trip. It would have been his morale just as much damage to see that plant in operation as it did go for the morale of Atlanta's dignitaries.

"Great guns" said one of the leaders. "Just think! What we're seeing is just a small part of what is going on all over this nation!" That small part he was seeing was an exceptionally organized munitions factory clipping out hard steel shots for Hitler's heart.

Machine after machine, man after man, long lines of men and machines, each working as though that shot was the one which would pierce Hitler's tough skin.

Steel bars are clapped into the machines, six bars at a time. Powerful motors whirled diamond-hard drills against them. In no time at all, six more steel bullets are on their way to Germany and Japan.

Hitler would have shivered if he could have heard the jarring hum of those drills biting into that steel.

His little eyes would have been paralyzed if he had watched the constant, inevitable progress of that assembly line for bullets.

His soul, if he still has one, would have shrunk if he had seen the stacks and stacks of death-dealing shot waiting to be taken to another plant for assembly with shell that would have done Hitler no good, because it was but a small part of the power of America—and there is so much more!

He cheered Atlanta leaders on end.

Flock of Goats Dies of Poisoning

Samuel P. Hutchins, of 1433 Hartford avenue, S. W., has a candidate for the title of "Atlanta's meanest man."

Hutchins, a veteran of World War I, has a stomach ailment and doctors say he must drink goat's milk.

He bought a stock of thoroughbred goats a couple of years ago. One died last year. Another died, and in rapid succession, another and another and then another.

Hutchins turned the body of the latest victim over to a veterinarian yesterday and found the goat died of arsenic poisoning.

Berlin Fails To Discuss Prisoners' Chaining Note

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), Oct. 15.—(P)—Transcend reported today that a British note dealing with the chaining of prisoners had been received by the government through Switzerland as a neutral intermediary.

Nothing was said about the reaction of German quarters.

(Prime Minister Churchill said in his house of commons speech Tuesday that Britain had proposed to Germany that the reprisal chainings be ceased, and that Britain would release chained prisoners if Germany did.)

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking blood, they help most people pass about 3 quarts a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisons to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passage with aching and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait until you're brought to Don's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney troubles flush out poisons, waste from your blood. Get Don's Pills.

Georgia Health Director Feted At Luncheon

Dr. Abercrombie Presented With Gift In Appreciation of Service.

Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, director of the state department of health, yesterday was honored at the Capital City Club at a luncheon celebrating his 25 years with the department.

Robert Maddox, chairman of the state board of health, was most in attendance were board members, representatives of medical and dental associations, colleagues, and many state department heads. Dr. Abercrombie was presented with a silver pitcher as a token of appreciation for his work.

It was pointed out that since Dr. Abercrombie's association with the department, typhoid mortality has declined 90 per cent, and malaria, which formerly took a large toll, has been reduced more than 80 per cent.

Diphtheria, as well as maternal and infant mortality, has also declined, and the department which comprised only four men when Dr. Abercrombie took over in 1917, now is composed of a staff which in the first six months of this year took 250,000 specimens. This compares with only about 7,000 a year in 1917.

Health services also are now organized in 59 Georgia counties, compared with only three in 1917.

Divorce Ends Pocket-Searching Privilege, Chicago Judge Rules

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—(AP)—When a woman divorces her husband she gives up the privilege of searching his pockets, Judge Oscar F. Nelson decided today.

Edward Pasewich was brought before him in superior court on a contempt citation alleging he was $134 behind in alimony payments to his former wife.

Pasewich testified he went to the home of Mrs. Pasewich two weeks ago to visit a daughter and that Mrs. Pasewich took $25 from a pocket of his coat, which he had placed on a chair.

"But," explained Mrs. Pasewich, "I sent him a receipt for it later."

Judge Nelson then told her: "Once you lose your husband, you lose the right to go through his pockets."

The jurist dismissed the contempt citation, but ordered Pasewich to pay his former wife $43 a month, including $13 in back payments on the alimony arrearage.

Induction Rites Final Services Are Held for Dr. Ellis Fuller Mrs. Stoney

Need for Spiritual Regeneration Seen by Baptist Leader.

Atlanta Was Daughter of Confederate Army Officer.

Funeral services for Mrs. Christopher Louis Stoney, who died Wednesday, were held yesterday at Spring Hill.

Born in Louisiana, Mrs. Stoney was the daughter of the late Captain C. C. McGee, Confederate army officer, who won fame by saving the city of Columbus from invasion by the northern army during the War Between the States.

Mrs. Stoney came to Atlanta in 1880. She graduated from the Lucy Cobb Institute in Athens. She was the wife of the late Christopher Louis Stoney, one of the four founders of All Saints' Episcopal church in Atlanta. She was one of the organizers of the Atlanta League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Stoney was well known in Atlanta and had friends in all parts of the United States. She made three trips around the world and several trips to Europe. Her death came after an illness of almost five years.

Dr. Theodore S. Will officiated at the funeral. Burial was in West View cemetery.

Constitution Staff Photo—H. J. Clayton.

As blithe as the breezes through which their parachutes float, these two paratroopers strolled into The Constitution building. Sally Saver seized the opportunity to question them about the food that keeps them so perfectly fit, whether they miss their home cooking (they're from Pennsylvania) and other things that a cooking editor would want to know. The photographer snapped the picture as they showed the size of the plate of stew that a paratrooper eats. Wearing their silver wings with jauntiness and pride are, left, Wally Mikulicz and John Plust, both of the newly-formed 507th Parachute Infantry, Company D, Fort Benning, Ga. Perhaps his background accounts for Wally's fighting spirit; he was born in Moscow, and brought to this country when only two years old. He's immensely proud of the hard-hitting Russian army.

Prize-Winning Recipes

Welsh Rarebit

Submitted by Ruth Yancey,
Douglasville, Ga.
1 tablespoon butter.
1 1-2 cups cheese, diced.
1-8 teaspoon salt.
1-4 teaspoon dry mustard.
Few grains cayenne.
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.
1 egg yolk.
Melt butter in skillet, add cheese and melt over slow fire. Add seasonings and then cream very slowly. Add egg yolk and beat well. Serve rarebit at once over toasted crackers or bread. Good over sliced tomatoes (tomatoes may be broiled), hard-cooked sliced eggs, oysters (heated in their juice), left-over vegetables, hot cauliflower.

Baked Squash

Ideas From a Cook's Notebook

Pot-Luck Pie.
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper.
8 tablespoons butter or margarine.
2 cups cooked meat, cubed.
1 cup sliced carrots, cooked.
2 cups peas, cooked and drained.
1 cup whole kernel corn, drained.
5 tablespoons flour.
1 cup milk.
1 1-2 cups vegetable or meat stock.
1 1-2 teaspoons salt.
1-2 teaspoon pepper.
1-2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.
1 1-2 teaspoon pepper.
Saute onions in 2 tablespoons butter until tender, add to meat and other vegetables. Blend remaining butter and flour, add liquid gradually and cook until thickened, stirring to keep smooth. Add seasonings, then the meat-vegetable mixture. Simmer until hot, then turn into a baking dish and top with this topping:

Topping.
1 1-2 cups sifted best enriched flour.
2 1-4 teaspoons all-phosphate baking powder.
1-4 teaspoon salt.
2 tablespoons shortening.
1-4 cup chopped stuffed olives.
9 tablespoons milk (about).
Sift dry ingredients together, and cut in shortening. Add olives, add milk and stir until all flour is dampened. Roll out 1-2 inch thick on lightly floured board, cut in diamond shapes and place on meat mixture. Bake in 375-degree oven about 40 minutes.

Correctly cooked cauliflower is snowy white, has no hint of strong flavor.

Good Seafood Dishes

Seafoods, while not overabundant due to some curtailment of fishing and transportation, can be used to some extent to take the place of meats. "Seafood once a week" is a good nutrition rule, even when meat shortages are not pressing, because seafood is particularly rich in iodine and phosphorus and its proteins (muscle-building elements) are of good quality. Following are some recipes for using shrimp and oysters to supplement your voluntary meat rations.

Fried Oysters

1 cup fine bread or cracker crumbs or corn meal.
2 eggs.
1-2 teaspoon salt. Pepper.
Drain oysters and dry between paper towels. Dip in seasoned crumbs, egg, diluted with water, then in crumbs again. Fry in deep fat, 385 degrees, until golden brown. Drain on unglazed paper and serve at once with tartar sauce.

Tartar Sauce

1 tablespoon minced pickle.
1 teaspoon minced onion.
1 tablespoon minced olives.
1 tablespoon minced parsley.
Combine all ingredients.
You may spread tartar sauce on freshly toasted buns or muffins and place fried oysters on the sauce for serving. Especially nice when serving buffet style.

Oysters Rockefeller

1 stalk celery, chopped fine.
1 shallot or young onion, chopped fine.
1-2 clove garlic, chopped fine.
1-2 teaspoon chopped parsley.
2 tablespoons chopped chives.
2 tablespoons chopped spinach.
2 ounces butter.
2 tablespoons fresh bread crumbs.
Salt, pepper and paprika to taste.
Mix ingredients to a paste and spread on six oysters. Place oysters in moderate oven until heated through. Serve hot.

Shrimp-Stuffed Eggplant

3 tablespoons butter or margarine.
1 cup canned or cooked shrimp, drained.
2 medium tomatoes, diced.
2-3 cup dry bread crumbs.
1-4 teaspoon salt.
1-8 teaspoon pepper.
1-2 cup buttered crumbs.
Cut a slice from side of eggplant, remove center, leaving a thin shell. Dice pulp and cook in water under a low heat, until tender. Combine with shrimp, tomatoes and crumbs; season. Fill shell top with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Serves 4.

Shrimp Hash

4 tablespoons butter or margarine.
1 cup canned or cooked shrimp, shredded.
3 1-2 cups finely chopped boiled potatoes.
1-3 cup chopped onion.
1-2 cup rich milk.
Pepper.
Melt butter in heavy frying pan. Mix remaining ingredients thoroughly, adding salt if necessary. Spread mixture evenly in frying pan and cook over low heat. Shake pan occasionally. When well browned on bottom, fold like an omelet with a pancake turner and carefully turn out on a hot platter. Serves 6.

Shrimp and Vegetable Casserole

1 sliced onion.
1-2 cup cooked diced carrots.
1-3 cup diced celery.
1 cup cooked or canned shrimp.
1 cup cooked rice.
1 1-4 cups gravy or white sauce.
1-2 cups cooked tomatoes.
2 tablespoons chopped parsley.
Heat salad oil and in it saute onion about 5 minutes. Add remaining ingredients, mix and pour into greased casserole. Season to taste with salt and pepper and bake in moderate oven about 15 minutes. Serves 6.

Don't forget to serve thick vegetable or fish chowders now that cooler weather is here. With a salad and a hearty dessert they make nutritious and satisfying meals.

Fried oysters in tartar sauce on toasted muffins.

Cook Cauliflower Quickly

Cauliflower is a member of the cabbage family and, as such, is particularly rich in vitamins and several minerals. Overcooking destroys the vitamins and has a bad effect upon the minerals, causing them to change form which develops a strong flavor and turns the vegetable dark. It is this strong flavor which makes lots of people disdain the cabbage family.

The very best method of cooking cauliflower is this:
Place heavy kettle over low heat, and add enough boiling water to cover bottom of kettle. Place head of cauliflower, head up, in the water, sprinkle head with salt, put tight-fitting cover on kettle and allow about 15 minutes for steaming. Cooking time will depend upon size of head, but be careful not to overcook. It is ready to serve when a fork can be inserted and drawn out easily.
When tender, lift head from water and place on hot serving platter. Season with drawn butter, cheese sauce, Hollandaise or any preferred seasoning.

Savory Butter for Cauliflower.

1-4 cup butter or margarine.
1 tablespoon minced parsley.
1 tablespoon lemon juice.
Dash of cayenne.
1 teaspoon minced onion.
1 tablespoon minced pimiento.
1 tablespoon minced green pepper.
Cream butter, add other ingredients and mix well. Butter may be melted before adding other ingredients.

An Apple a Day Is Victory Way

Apples are the "Victory Food Special" through the remainder of October, and here you'll find some splendid ways of using this healthful and popular fruit. You'll keep a bowlful of polished red beauties on hand for snacking, of course, but in addition you will want to do your share of making use of apples in many other ways.

A perfect October luncheon menu is Waldorf Salad with a dressing which contains peanut butter instead of chopped nuts, hot toasted cheese sandwiches and tea or coffee. Add a dessert, if you wish. Here's the salad recipe and other suggestions for using apples.

Waldorf Salad With Peanut Butter Dressing: Select firm, well flavored apples. If red, do not peel them. Cut the apples into dice and mix with diced celery—2 cups apples to each cup of diced celery. Have the dressing ready to add at once so that the apples will not discolor. For the dressing, mix 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1-4 teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons flour and 2 tablespoons sugar. Add 2 egg yolks and beat until blended, then stir in 1 cup evaporated milk. Stir over hot water until the mixture thickens, then add 2 tablespoons peanut butter. Next pour in 1-4 cup vinegar or lemon juice a little at a time. Remove from the fire and cool before serving. If it seems too thick add a little more milk after the dressing has cooled. This will keep in a covered jar if you store it in the refrigerator, so make up a quantity and use it with Waldorf salad or other fruit mixtures.

Deep dish apple pie isn't new, but have you tried lifting the crust when the pie is done, pouring in 2 cups thick boiled custard, replacing the crust and letting the pie chill before serving?
Apple Turnovers made with a cheese pastry are something to rave about! Sift 3 cups flour with 1-2 teaspoon salt and then work in 1-2 pound chilled cream cheese using a pastry chopper or a fork. When thoroughly blended, the mixture should be almost done. Add about 2 tablespoons ice water to make a stiff dough, chill and then roll out on lightly floured board to about an eighth-inch thickness. Cut in three-inch squares. Peel, quarter and core good cooking apples, then cut in thick slices. Cover one-half of each square with apple slices, sprinkle with 2 tablespoons sugar and a dash of cinnamon and fold over the dough, pinching the edges firmly together. Place on a shallow baking pan or cookie sheet and bake in a hot oven—400 degrees—for 25 minutes. Serve warm with a sprinkling of sugar.

Dutch Apple Cake is something many people do not know how to make. Serve it hot with cream or with a fruit sauce. Sift 2 cups flour with 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup sugar and 1-4 teaspoon cinnamon. Rub in 1-2 cup shortening with a fork or the fingers. Beat 1 egg, mix with 1 cup milk and stir into the flour mixture. Mix well, pour into an oblong, greased baking pan. Peel, quarter, core and slice about 3 large cooking apples. Arrange the slices in overlapping rows down the long way of the cake. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons sugar, 1-4 cup melted butter or margarine and 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon or nutmeg. Bake in a moderate oven—375 degree—for about 45 minutes or until the apples are tender and the cake done. Serve warm.

For October Parties and Halloween We Must Have Apples on a Stick.
Caramel Glazed Apples: Two pounds sugar, scant cup white corn syrup, 2-3 cups evaporated milk. Put sugar, syrup and 2-3 cup milk in a large heavy kettle. Stir to blend well. Heat slowly until sugar is melted, then boil briskly to a thick syrup. Add remainder of milk slowly, keeping mixture boiling briskly, and boil to firm ball stage, 240 degrees on candy thermometer.
Select small apples, free from blemishes. Wash and dry thoroughly and stick on wooden skewers. Dip apples in caramel mixture. Twirl to get rid of surplus coating and to make smooth. Stand apples in some receptacle that will permit them to dry without marring coating.
If coating becomes too hard for dipping, add a little milk or water and reheat. The mixture should be kept quite hot so that coating will not be too heavy. This makes enough coating for 15 to 20 apples.

Meat-Saving Tips

A little meat goes a long way if it's combined with vegetables and gravy and made into a pie. Top meat pies with whipped potatoes, white or sweet potatoes, mashed parsnips or turnips, cornmeal batter, baking powder biscuits, dumplings or flaky pastry.

Fat such as comes with meat is one of the most efficient forms of energy, so use it for better wartime stamina. It is 92 per cent digestible. It lends a delicious flavor to the meat. Use it along with the lean meat.

Cooked meats are nuggets of good flavor. To keep them freshly appetizing for later dishes, cut all meat and fat from bone and keep tightly covered in the refrigerator. Use rubbed leftover meat in creamed eggs or potatoes, escalloped vegetables, salads, or in cream sauce over a starchy food. Grind the smaller pieces for meat patties, loaves, croquettes, timbales, sandwich fillings, souffles or omelets. The bone, though not large, simmered in seasoned water an hour or two, makes stock for gravy, white sauce or soup.

Take good care of your meat allowance. Unwrap fresh meat immediately, wipe, and store in covered dish in coldest part of refrigerator. Chopped meat spoils easily and shouldn't remain long uncooked. Cover cooked meat in refrigerator to prevent drying.

Because meat specialties—such as liver, kidney, and heart—are extremely perishable, they are usually frozen when delivered to retail meat dealers. These parts thaw so rapidly, it's unnecessary to give them special attention before cooking.

Jack Spratt's wives are patriotically appearing to clean up meat platters. They've learned that bone marrow and meat fats give flavor for gravies, stews, and soup stocks, while bones add full-bodied flavor and substance to a pot of soup.

This Week's Meat "Stretcher."

Use one pound of an inexpensive cut of beef, lamb or veal—either chuck, shoulder, plate or flank. Cut in small pieces, brown in drippings, add water, and simmer until tender. Add 4 cups of mixed vegetables, carrots, onions, potatoes, peppers, string beans, lima beans, and make plenty of gravy. Then further "stretch" the meat by adding dumplings to the stew 10 minutes before serving time.

The Army and Navy in Georgia

Establishment at southeastern Army posts of miscellaneous repair shops which will repair thousands of items formerly replaced or sent to commercial shops was announced by the Fourth Service Command.

"The waste nothing, repair everything" policy of the Army is really coming into its own," said Captain Lorne Wilkie, chief of the command's reclamation and salvage branch.

Clothing and equipment repair facilities long have been maintained at Army camps, but the new shops will repair such items as kitchen utensils, canteens, mess kits and hand tools.

Men now in the Army who repaired typewriters as civilians also have been put back at their old jobs in the new shops and will "keep 'em writing," Captain Wilkie added, although complete overhauling still will be done by commercial firms which he said are burdened with work on thousands of additional machines demanded by war activities.

"Dear Buddy" letters, appearing in The Constitution and the Silver Service stars both appeal to Sergeant Technician Robert L. Prather, who is serving with a band in Panama.

Prather, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Prather, of 1316 Marietta street, has been in the Army since 1937, when he graduated from Tech High. He was stationed at Fort McPherson before going to Panama.

WILLIE E. RICH

Visits Parents

Willie E. Rich, who has been stationed with the Navy in Pearl Harbor for the past 15 months, recently spent six days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rich, of Bainbridge.

Joining the Navy in June of 1940, Rich took his "boot" training at Norfolk, Va., and has served on several ships. He received a commendation at Pearl Harbor on December 7.

Open Discontent Spreading In Reich, Escaped Pole Says

(The German people are rapidly losing faith in the Nazi regime and open discontent is becoming widespread, Jan Wawrzyniak, a Polish soldier who recently escaped from a German prison camp and made his way to London via Unoccupied France, declares here.)

By JAN WAWRZYNIAK.

Copyright, 1942, by International News Service.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(INS)—From October, 1939, until a short time ago, I was confined in German prison camps. First, I was taken to a camp in East Prussia, and in December 1941 was transferred to a prison camp in Bavaria. In Prussia we Poles were surrounded with hate and treated very badly. In Bavaria our camp was situated in a nice, rolling country and we were treated better. This was due chiefly to the fact that the morale of the Germans had begun to crack around that time.

Guards Reduced. As early as May, 1942, the number of prison guards in our camp was greatly reduced. Only those unfit for military duty were left—mostly old reserve soldiers and invalids. Many of them were depressed because of the bad news which came from the Russian front, and were trying to live peacefully with the prisoners so there would be no complaints of German brutality.

It was apparent to us that these Germans no longer believed in a German victory and were attempting to reinstate themselves. This attitude was indicative of the feelings of all Germans.

They all lived in fear of being sent to the Russian front, which to them was worse than death. This dread of the Eastern front was shared by all the Germans in our camp, who knew that the slightest disgrace made them eligible for "honorable duty" on the Russian front.

Make Getaway. Because of these conditions it was possible for us to plan an escape, and one evening two other Poles and myself, and one Frenchman, made our getaway.

I shall not describe the ways and means of that escape, for I am certain many of my comrades will follow the same route.

My good knowledge of the German language helped me through Germany. I must emphasize the fact that throughout Bavaria and other southern parts of Germany anti-Nazi sentiment is steadily growing.

In certain sections having no Gestapo agents I encountered open discontent—in forms never before possible.

In private discussions people often criticized the Nazi party, and were positive that the declaration of war by the United States was the final blow to Germany.

Raided Having Effect. The RAF raids are also having their effect, particularly because protection from bombings is very ineffectual.

More and more Germans ask: "Where is our Luftwaffe?" The prospect of another winter campaign with all its known sufferings and sacrifices is weighing heavily on all the Germans I have met.

During nearly three years of life in Germany I noticed a great shifting of the German morale. Today Germans are losing their faith in victory, and this has a tremendous effect on conditions inside Germany.

Getting The Range at Fort Mac

Last week when the "KP" detail was picked from the selectees being processed at "Tent City," it was found there were two Robert Boggses—a Robert E. and Robert W.—assigned to the detail.

Knowing it would be confusing to have two men of the same name on the job, noncommissioned officers in charge decided to let one man off.

The Robert Boggses tossed for it. Robert W. lost, so off he went to KP.

Warrant Officer Robert A. Walker, chief clerk at the Classification Section, Reception Center, has returned from a week's leave of absence, during which he visited Boston, Mass.

Ward of Leo Carrillo Wants To Change Name

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Marie Antoinette Kachonsky, 24, has been residing with Film Actor Leo Carrillo and his family for 19 years, and it begins to look as if it's permanent.

So Miss Kachonsky has petitioned the court to change her legal surname to Carrillo. She has no living relatives, she said, and has been the actor's ward since November, 1923.

Around Atlanta

Trial of Ben T. Hulet, state commissioner of labor, and two former officials of the State Labor Department on conspiracy charges yesterday was postponed until Monday because insufficient jurors were available in federal district court.

Fred Walker, superintendent of Grady hospital, was elected vice president of the American Hospital Association at its annual meeting in St. Louis, Mo. Walker, who lives at 678 Peachtree road, N. E., came to Grady from Charlotte, N. C., last July 1.

The first all-school convocation of Atlanta Negro institutions for higher education will be held at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the quadrangle facing the Atlanta University library. Sponsors include Atlanta University, Morehouse College, Spelman College, Atlanta University School of Social Work, Clark College, Morris Brown College and Gammon Theological Seminary.

Bank clearings amounted to $24,800,000 yesterday compared with $24,500,000 for the corresponding day last year.

Miss Speaks Opens Emory's Season Tonight

Young Soprano Sings at Glenn Memorial Auditorium.

The popular young American soprano who served as "The Voice of Firestone" all summer will open the Emory Student Lecture Series at the Glenn Memorial auditorium at 8:30 o'clock tonight. The concert will be the Atlanta debut of Margaret Speaks.

The young artist's program for tonight will include four groups. The first is composed of songs by Handel, Gluck and two 18th century airs. Other numbers will be a French group, an American group and "Time," by Olmstead. Tickets for the performance may be obtained at the door tonight. There are no reserved seats.

Industries Group Told Business Must Make Adjustment

Grim warnings that a calamitous depression and a long period of unemployment may follow the war if business does not adjust itself to newer methods ran through the annual meeting of the Associated Industries of Georgia yesterday at the Biltmore hotel.

The convention closed last night with the election of H. R. Creamer, of Augusta, as president.

Directors Named.

Edward J. Gayner, of Brunswick, was named vice-president, representing the southeast section; Walter A. Richards, Columbus, vice-president, southwest section; Don C. Hancock, Marietta, vice-president, northwest section, and H. L. Litchfield, Tallahassee, vice-president, northeast section.

New treasurer is Walter B. Elcock, of Rockmart.

Directors from the northeast district are G. A. Austin, Decatur; H. D. Florence, Atlanta; R. E. Barlow, Augusta, and Guy M. Merry, Augusta.

In the northwest district new directors are Robert E. Brumby, Marietta; Richard C. Jones, Rome; Alfred D. Kennedy, Atlanta, and W. H. Wright, Atlanta.

George A. Mercer Jr., W. H. Murphy, and T. L. Anderson, of Savannah, and A. H. Reu, of Brunswick, will serve as directors from the southeast district.

From the southwest district will be Edmund F. Cook, West Point; Hamilton Holt, Macon; John T. Phillips, Albany, and R. P. Sheppard Jr., Griffin.

Per Capita Income.

Industry has a keen interest in raising the purchasing power of Georgia farmers from a per capita income of about $300 annually to the national per capita average of $600 a year, said Robert Strickland, president of the Trust Company of Georgia and chairman of the state agricultural council.

"If industry is profitable but two-thirds of our people are engaged in occupations which are unprofitable, it undoubtedly will follow that industry will bear a great part of the burden of local government," Strickland declared.

He said the need for food to win the war is "not merely the duty of all Georgia farmers, but is a splendid long-range opportunity to improve our system of farming and add many permanent products to the present agricultural yield."

Ernest E. Norris, president of the Southern Railway System, said railroads "are meeting the nation's transportation needs for the prosecution of the war, and nothing can conquer their will to do any job that has to be done."

"We are learning how to save things, how to conserve time and how to work smoothly and efficiently with our partners and with the government," Norris said.

"We are improving relations with shippers and receivers of freight, with patrons who ride our trains and those from whom we buy things."

"Use Imagination."

Railroads are learning to do more with less, he said, adding: "We have only stumbled through the first reader now. We have much to learn. But we are curious. We must push on."

Norris praised planning for the post-war world. "My greatest hope," he said, "is that, even as we fight, we will dare to dream of the kind of a world we want; that we will work together to make it the way we want it."

Urging business men to "use their imagination and daring" as a means of keeping alive American free enterprise, Roscoe Arant, regional business consultant of the U. S. department of commerce, warned "at no time in his-

Council To Get Plan To Move Old Car Rails

Committee Recommends $6,600 To Help Resurface Peachtree

Preliminaries designed to salvage about 26 miles of abandoned street car rails and to resurface Peachtree street from Spring street to the city limits were taken yesterday by city council's public works committee and will go to council Monday for approval of that body.

The committee authorized a contract with the Metals Reserve Company, a subsidiary of RFC, through which the company will get the rails.

A fund of $6,600 was recommended for the Peachtree street resurfacing, representing the city's cost of preparing the roadbed for resurfacing by the State Highway Department after the street car rails have been reclaimed.

A petition by the Georgia Power Company to reroute the Soldiers' Home feeder bus in East Atlanta was filed with the committee and a public hearing on the proposal was set for 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, October 29.

Under the proposal the bus would be rerouted on Patterson street, extending eastward two blocks to Blake street and northward to McPherson avenue. Preston S. Arkwright, president of the power company, informed the committee that residents along the route have asked the change to provide more convenient service.

Few businesses will continue to operate after the war on their pre-war schedule, he warned.

"Citizens must have jobs and cash to buy," he said. "Need alone did not turn the factory wheels in the 30s, and it will not do it in the 40s or 50s."

Arant called upon every business man of Georgia to keep alert for new trends in his respective line; to search for new products and new methods of developing those products at home. He recommended a state or regional laboratory, supported by business men, and a means of keeping business abreast of new developments.

Hundreds are coming to town to work and live, need used furniture and have CASH to pay for it. Advertise in the Want Ads of The Constitution.

Scrap Canvass Yields 150,000 Pounds to Date

Today's Pickup Covers East Lake and Kirkwood Sections.

The scrap picked up from curbs in the Newspapers' drive hit the 150,000-pound mark yesterday as, the Grant Park and Federal penitentiary collection yielded 58,568 pounds, a record day's work for the four days of the house-to-house campaign.

The East Lake and Kirkwood section will be the area to be covered in today's pick-ups. Residents are urged to have the scrap out early so the trucks can keep moving.

The section to be covered today is bounded on the north by the Georgia railroad; on the west, by Moreland avenue; on the south, by the city limits of Eden avenue, Glenwood avenue and Southview avenue; and on the east, by Columbia drive and the city limits.

RAF Pilot's Air Sign 'Lingo' Saves Fortress, Crew of 9

By WES GALLAGHER.
WITH THE BOMBER COMMAND, UNITED STATES ARMY AIR FORCES, SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Oct. 15. (AP)—Nine American Flying Fortress crewmen are alive and their $250,000 plane will fly against Hitler again because, in one split second, an alert British Spitfire pilot improvised an air sign language.

Cornelia Rites Are Held for Vernon Glaze

Youth Dies Following Injuries in Motorcycle-Truck Crash.

The body of Vernon L. Glaze, 22, of 702 Rosalia street, S. E., who died late Wednesday night at Grady hospital, was taken to Cornelia for funeral services and burial. Glaze was injured early Wednesday morning when the motorcycle on which he and a companion were riding collided with a truck at Georgia avenue and Hill street, according to a report by Radio Patrolmen R. E. Williams and J. C. Varnum.

Glaze and Robert Broyles, 31, of 495 Waldo street, S. E., who was driving the motorcycle, were taken to Grady hospital. Glaze had a fractured pelvis and Broyles a broken leg, reports said.

Glaze's death became the 20th traffic fatality in Atlanta since January 1. This is eight below the total at the same time last year.

Cases of reckless driving-accident were booked against Broyles and George Rutledge, 26, of 777 Primrose street, S. E., driver of the truck.

Matron Given Fine of $150, Jail Sentence

Commissioner Asks Leniency for Defendant; Term Suspended.

Convicted of burning the arms of two residents of the Cooper Street Home for Girls and striking another, Mrs. Elizabeth Armstrong, matron of the home, was sentenced yesterday to pay a fine of $150 and serve 18 months in jail, the jail sentence to be suspended upon payment of the fine.

Sentence was imposed by Judge Virlyn Moore, of Fulton superior court, after County Commissioner Charlie Brown, chairman of the county juvenile and alms committee, had made a plea for leniency for the defendant.

Brown maintained Mrs. Armstrong had done a splendid job during her eight years as matron of the home and that through her work the lives of hundreds of girls had been improved.

Attorney John Hudson, for the defense, immediately filed an appeal and Mrs. Armstrong posted a $300 bond.

Radio Training Posts Are Open

Men interested in learning radio mechanics and radio operation are offered an opportunity to receive training with pay and be classified as enlisted reserves in the Army, according to an announcement made yesterday by O. E. Myers, regional director of the Fifth U. S. Civil Service Commission.

"All men with a high school education are eligible, including those classified A-A by their draft boards," Myers declared. "Pay starts at $85 a month, and promotions will be based on merit when the course is completed. All men become reserves in the Signal Corps."

Interviews are now being given in Room 409, New Postoffice Building, and in Building T-1128 at Fort McPherson.

But for Flight Lieutenant A. J. Andrews, fighter pilot of the RAF, the Flying Fortress would have crashed in the rough English Channel and these men in its crew might not have been here today to tell the story:

Lieutenant James M. Stewart, 22, acclergymen's son from Marrowbone, Ky., the pilot.
Lieutenant William W. Dickey, 23, of Beverly, Mass., a former scoutmaster, copilot.
Lieutenant Joseph E. Consolmagno, 24, of Boston, Mass., a former newspaperman, navigator.
Lieutenant James A. Creamer, 23, of Louisville, Ky., bombardier.
Sergeant U. L. Langan, 22, of Sioux City, Iowa, radio operator-gunner.

Florida Aboard.
Sergeant Charles J. Merryweather, 22, Sanford, Fla., top turret gunner.
Sergeant Raymond C. Schmoeyer, 24, East Greenville, Pa., ball turret gunner.
Sergeant Thomas E. McMillan, 23, Steubenville, Ohio, waist gunner.

Sergeant Jack M. Wheeler, 19, Muskogee, Okla., tail gunner.
Stewart was piloting his Fortress in the big raid against Lille last Friday when he was jumped by swarms of German fighters. They knocked two motors out, smashed the radio apparatus, riddled the liferaft, and drilled shell holes in the rudder.

The Fortress finally shook them off, but lost height rapidly over the channel until, approaching England's hills, it had dropped to about 1,500 feet.

The third motor was beginning to cough.
"I knew it was only a question of several hundreds yards before I would have to make a crash landing and with hills in front of me it looked like the best chance was to land in the channel," said Stewart.

Water Very Rough.
"I was picking out a soft spot in the water, which was very rough." At this critical moment Andrews appeared and instantly sized up the situation. He could not communicate by radio so he jumped in front of the Fortress, waggled his wings violently and headed directly for shore.
"I knew he wanted me to follow him, so I took a chance," Stewart continued.

The Spitfire sped straight over a low hill, he said, and "just as he reached the crest of the hill he waggled his wings again and dropped his landing gear to show me there was a field below."

The struggling bomber just cleared the hill and rolled onto a runway directly in front of a field of which its crew had never known before. The crew agreed that their plane probably could not have flown another 100 yards.

Schmoeyer suffered the only injury. He had been cold on the way to France and had turned on his heating apparatus in his electric flying suit. In the fight and the return home he had neglected to shut it off and was slightly "cooked."

Dr. Hiram Evans' Case Is Taken From Calendar

The case of Dr. Hiram W. Evans, charged with conspiracy to defraud the state, scheduled to begin October 21, was continued yesterday until further notice by Judge Virlyn Moore, of Fulton superior court.

H. A. Allen, Evans' attorney, told the court he would be occupied trying another case in federal court on that day and representatives of Solicitor John A. Boykin's office agreed the case be taken off the calendar.

Management and Labor Unbeatable, Says Nelson

WATERBURY, Conn., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, said today that "American management and American labor together make a team that nothing can beat."

"The record they have set is one of the brightest spots in the story of our war effort," said Nelson in speaking at Army-Navy "E" award ceremonies at the Chase Brass & Copper Company plant here.

BEST FOODS Real Mayonnaise

It's really fresh, made with our own "FRESH-PRESS" salad oil, which we prepare fresh each day, plus freshly broken eggs and added egg yolks. That's why this Real Mayonnaise has such a delicate, zesty flavor in all sandwiches.
